Ike Is Awed And Troubled

He is used to war—and the crushing destruction of its weapons.

And, yet they tell me that Dwight D. Eisenhower privately is awed and that he solemnly, and almost fearfully, awaits the arrival this week of Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, with an official report on the thermo-nuclear apparatus exploded in the Bikini test of March 1.

A little while ago we drew back from the power of the atomic bomb itself. These things cannot be comprehended anyhow, and so man withdraws from it. But this thing now called the thermo-nuclear bomb, which explodes atoms of hydrogen, is possibly 600 times more powerful than the atom weapon which was dropped in 1945 over the Japanese city of Hiroshima. For a time there, parts of that city literally bubbled and boiled, and persons two miles distant were burned.

On March 1 the explosion "dramatically exceeded" expectations. This was the official language. What happened frightened, dismayed and excited those who witnessed it.

Later they were again deeply concerned.

Two hundred and thirty-six island natives, 28 Americans at a weather station, and 83 Japanese fishermen were showered with radioactive ashes, though some were "safely" distanced 85 miles away. In addition, whole boatloads of fish were ruined by being made radioactive.

12 to 14 Megatons

The official language said the bomb, which sent hideously tortured clouds boiling up to a point 17 miles in the sky, had the power of "from 12 to 14 megatons."

"Mega" is from the Greek and means "many." When the metric system of measurement was adopted, the word was incorporated to mean "a million times." So when the scientists measure the thermo-nuclear blast to have had the force of "12 to 14 megatons" they mean it had the terrific force of the exploding weight of 12 to 14 million tons.

Then, too, the scientists tell us this:

This one bomb developed six to eight times as much energy as all the high explosive bombs exploded by the United States Air Force in World War II.

Our bombers dropped hundreds of thousands of tons of bombs. Some weighed many tons each. We spoke of "block-busters" and they were. They destroyed whole blocks of buildings. Great cities fell beneath the pounding of our bombs.

The mind can take that and play around with it—but it cannot fit it into neat little slots and see the real meaning of it.

The scientists tell us, too, that this one bomb would have "obliterated" a city the size of Washington, D.C. It would not simply have blown down most of the buildings. It would have "obliterated it." (In the Pacific an island boiled and bubbled and disappeared in the sea beneath the blast.)

No 'Secrets'

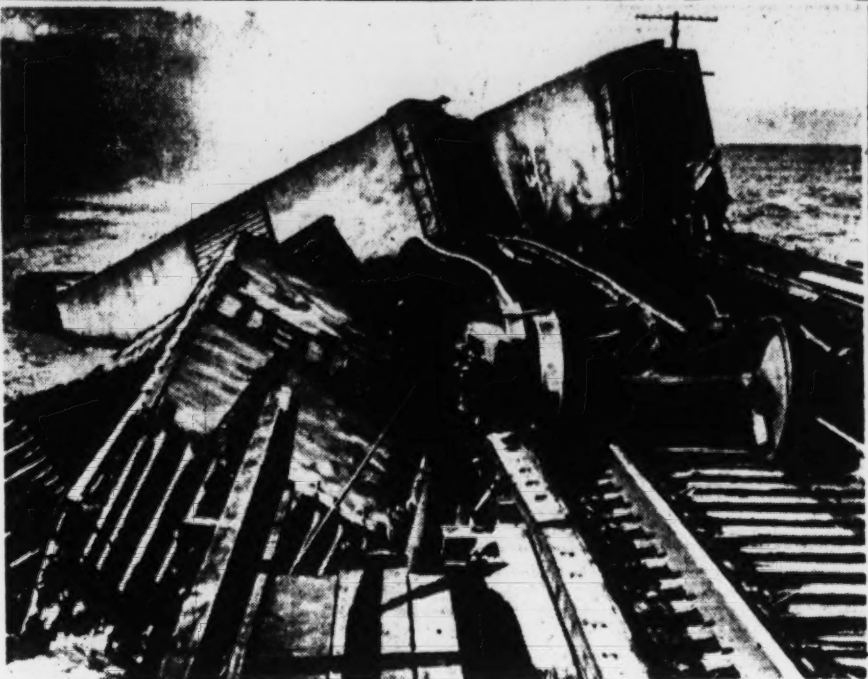

The Russians also have exploded such a weapon.

So President Eisenhower has suggested to the Russians a measure of control . . . and also has sought to bring the nations together in a pooling of atomic knowledge and materials so that all the world may have the benefits of medical, agricultural and scientific benefits derived from them.

There are no "secrets." We don't know how much atomic spies helped the Russians—but we do know they gave them no atomic secrets. The only secrets are in the technology of production—and it is likely the spies did help the Russians attain the bomb a few years ahead of schedule.

Now, the problem is to stay ahead.

The administration has kept the major planks in the Truman atomic program. It is estimated that gaining a positive advantage for the United States will require a $5-billion-dollar budget across the next five years. That is about 10 billion dollars above the present rate of military spending. Scientists say our spending as of today will keep us from dropping behind. Not put us ahead. That's the picture.

FREIGHT CARS PILE UP—STELLACOOM, Wis., March 28—About a dozen cars of a Union Pacific freight train were derailed here today. The derailed cars were in the center of the train and eight fell 30 feet to the water. Four others dangled from the trestle.

Sales Spurt Forecast by Ike Advisers

By CHARLES E. EGAN

New York Times News Service

Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, March 28—A substantial spurt in consumer buying will start next month and end the recent downward trend in the nation's economy, President Eisenhower is being advised by his economic counselors.

The advisers' assurances of a pickup in retail sales are based upon the assumption that the $1-000,000,000 cut in excise taxes provided in legislation now in Congress will go into effect April 1.

The excise tax cuts of 5 to 10 per cent applying to a wide variety of products, it was held, will provide the price inducement for which consumers have been looking the past several months.

Economists have concluded that the gradual decline in business activity which has been in progress since late last summer, as well as the drop in employment, both will be halted and the situation stabilized at current levels within a matter of weeks.

No prospects of a sudden upturn in business activity are held out by the economists. They believe the nation must be content to go along for some months until the "leveling off" process is completed. Perhaps in the fall months, they have told the President, business in general will begin a gradual upward climb which will be all but imperceptible.

Ga. Postmaster Held in Slaying

LEXINGTON, March 28 (AP)—

The postmaster of Point Peter is being held in Oglethorpe County jail in the fatal shooting of John Thomas Moon, Sheriff W. T. Howard said today.

The sheriff said the postmaster, Benjamin Turner, about 27, told him he shot Moon, 23, in self-defense in front of the Point Peter post office. Moon attacked him with a knife, Turner was quoted.

Howard quoted the postmaster as saying Moon was drunk.

Fleeing Deputy Killed As His Car Overtakes

A Tennessee deputy sheriff was killed early Sunday when the automobile in which he had outdistanced a pursuing police car failed to make a curve and overturned a mile south of Calhoun, the State Patrol reported.

The victim was Charles Oley Kennedy, 44, of Etowah, Tenn., a deputy sheriff for six years.

State Patrolmen J. W. Moreland and Charles Cagle said the crash occurred about 2:45 a.m. at the intersection of Highways 41 and 53.

They said the car veered off the left side of the road onto the shoulder and overturned in a ditch, throwing Kennedy out of the vehicle. He died a few minutes after an ambulance arrived.

Patrolmen Thomas Baker and Albert Scott of Calhoun said they accosted Kennedy on a downtown street about 2:30 a.m. They said he resisted arrest and sped away. They said they followed, but Kennedy car outdistanced them.

State's Best Uranium Lodes Bared

Discovery of the largest and best deposit of uranium ever found in Georgia was disclosed Sunday by Dr. A. S. Furcron, assistant state geologist.

Dr. Furcron said the uranium was discovered by chance a few days ago in the mica mine being opened up between Barnesville and Culloden, in middle Georgia on property owned by State Parks Director Newton Moye.

LOOKING FOR MICA
The geologist emphasized that the discovery does not necessarily mean that the deposit has commercial possibilities.

But after testing a sample of the ore and inspecting the mine itself, Dr. Furcron said: "It is the best show of uranium ever found in Georgia."

The discovery of the valuable yellow green ore was made by Arthur Boone of Boone and Howell, which has leased the Moye property to mine mica, Dr. Furcron said.

Chill With Rain Due Tomorrow

Warmer and cloudier Monday, rain and colder Tuesday is the weather outlook for Atlanta and north Georgia.

The mercury is expected to climb to 70 degrees Monday after a low of 44, but topcoats and raincoats will be in order Tuesday when showers and a temperature range of 50-56 degrees are forecast.

The high reading in Atlanta Sunday was 61 and the low 49.

1,500 Saved, 4 Die, 18 Hurt As Blazing British Troopship Sinks After Blast off Algiers

300 Escape By Leaping Over Side

ALGIERS, Algeria, March 28 (AP)—More than 1,500 men, women and children, responding to orders with icy calm, were saved from the blazing British troopship Empire Windrush today in one of the greatest sea rescues in history.

A boiler room explosion ripped apart the 14,561-ton vessel bearing servicemen and their families home from British outposts in the Far and Middle East.

Four crewmen were killed by the explosion, but the remainder of the crew and the entire complement of passengers, including 1,286 Army, Navy and Air Force personnel, 17 invalids, 125 women and 87 children, were brought to safety by four rescue ships.

RUMORS OF SABOTAGE

Eighteen injured, including 14 walking cases with minor burns and scratches, one 12-year-old with a broken leg, and three adults suffering from shock, made up the remarkably low list of casualties.

Since the Empire Windrush passed through the Suez Canal last week at the height of a new wave of anti-British disturbances, there was some speculation that the vessel may have been sabotaged.

However, the ship's captain declined any comment on the possibility of sabotage and there was no concrete evidence of it from any quarter.

French and British admiralty officials could find no precedent for the rescue operation in the Mediterranean 50 miles north-west of Algiers.

BLAZE SPREAD RAPIDLY

The explosion which touched off the fire occurred just before 7 a.m. (Saturday midnight Atlanta time). Within a half hour, the ship was a torch.

Rebels Edge Nearer Fort

SIAM, Indochina, March 28 (AP)—Communist siege armies edged closer to Dien Bien Phu today and the embattled French Union garrison braced for all-out Red assault expected with the dark of the moon in the next 48 hours.

Communist "mole men" already were taking advantage of the waning moon to thrust their network of trenches and tunnels closer to the outer defenses of the isolated French bastion.

French officials speculated that Red Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap would hurl his massed forces, estimated at 40,000 men, at the French Union defenders within the next two days.

Egypt Junks Vote; Army, Naguib Stay

CAIRO, Egypt, March 28 (AP)—

An aide to Mohamed Naguib said tonight the president, "bowing to the people's will," had agreed in principle that Egypt's Revolutionary Council should remain in power and that the election of a Constituent Assembly and rebirth of political parties be called off.

Maj. Ismail Farid, personal aide to Naguib, made the announcement, however, as joint conferences between the Revolutionary Council and civilian ministers continued.

Salah Salem, guidance minister, also left the conference which had been going on for more than seven hours and addressed a crowd which shouted, "We want revolution. We don't want parties."

Salem said: "I can promise you we (army officers) shall not leave you. We will continue until the evacuation of imperialist (British) forces from the Suez Canal zone."

Children Denied Home Pause Here on Return

Five children whose mother sent them alone to California to live with a grandmother stopped here on a train Sunday—on their way back to Ft. Meade, Fla. The grandmother couldn't care for them either.

The youngsters, three girls and two boys, were laden with sacks of comic books, games and candy given them by California welfare officials.

They were traveling back under the watchful wing of Mrs. Nettie Huey, superintendent of indigent aid in Stockton, Calif. She said they are "doing fine."

Their mother, Florence Harris of Ft. Meade, put them on a bus for California in February. She said she couldn't care for them.

The oldest, Barbara, 13, shepherded them cross-country to the home of a grandmother at Manteca, Calif. But the grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Cooper, had been ill and would not take responsibility for the children. The youngest is three years old.

Welfare officials stepped in and gave $618 for new clothes and train tickets back to Florida.

How was the trip? "Fun," they said. "We liked the Mississippi River the best."

Mighty Mo To Make Saddest Stop This Summer—the Mothball Fleet

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution
NORFOLK, Va., March 29—The Navy's great man-of-war, the battleship Missouri, will get orders this summer to come home from the sea for the Navy's saddest assignment: the mothball fleet.

The 45,000-ton ship is scheduled to proceed to Puget Sound Naval Yard, Bremerton, Wash., for a four-month process of mothballing, beginning in September.

The Missouri, christened by Miss Margaret Truman in January, 1944, has been the pride of former President Truman, who once vowed that the Missouri would not join the mothball fleet as long as he was in the White House.

It is speculated here that the Missouri will be followed to the mothball limbo by the three other battleships that are still in active commission. The Navy is convinced that the aircraft carrier has become the backbone of the fighting fleet, and the 60,000-ton "super-carrier" James Forrestal is slated for launching here in October.

Ike Stripping Off Indochina Policy Wraps

By DANA ADAMS SCHMIDT

New York Times News Service

Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, March 28—The first moves were made today in an administration campaign to tell the United States public clearly and dramatically what is at stake in Indochina.

The administration holds that its Democratic predecessors did not let the public know what the stakes were in China until it was too late; it does not intend to make the same mistake in the case of Indochina.

President Eisenhower approved today the draft of a speech on United States policy in the Far East in general and Indochina in particular which Secretary of State Dulles will deliver before the Overseas Press Club in New York tomorrow. The speech follows a week of conference on Indochina conducted by administration leaders among themselves and with the visiting French Chief of Staff, Gen. Paul Ely.

The President also today sent identical telegrams to President Rene Coty of France and to Bao Dai, chief of state of Viet Nam, praising the defenders of Dien Bien Phu, the fortress in north-central Viet Nam which the French Union forces are defending against fanatical assaults by the Communist Vietminh army.

"In common with millions of my countrymen," Eisenhower wrote, "I salute the gallantry and stamina of the commander and soldiers who are defending Dien Bien Phu. We have the most profound admiration for the brave and resourceful fight being waged there by troops from France, Viet Nam, and other parts of the French Union."

"Those soldiers, true to their own great traditions, are defending the cause of human freedom and are demonstrating in the truest fashion qualities on which the survival of the free world depends. I would be grateful if you would convey to the commander of the gallant garrison of Dien Bien Phu my personal thanks."

Toss Out Tito, Ask Yugoslav 'Socialists'

Underground Unit Gives 1st Revolt Sign in 6 Years

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 28 (AP)—An underground organization challenged President Tito's Communist government today and called upon the Yugoslav people to overthrow the country's "dictatorship." It was the first sign of an organized opposition here in six years.

A communique outlining aims and objectives of the organization—which said it was organizing a Socialist party—was circulated among foreign correspondents stationed here. It bore no signature. It cautioned those who received it to destroy the copies for fear Yugoslavia's security police might attempt to trace identification.

A spokesman for the Foreign Office termed the alleged new organization "obscure, ridiculous and insignificant, unworthy of comment." High officials in Tito's government called the statement "nonsense."

RECALLS OUSTER

Perhaps significantly, the document was distributed on the eve of the fourth plenary session of Yugoslavia's Central Committee, which meets tomorrow for the first time since Milovan Djilas, a vice president, was stripped of his rank for attacking government policies early this year.

Speculation immediately focused upon the possibility that supporters of Djilas, one of the five top ranking figures in the government, were behind the new move. It seemed designed to create an anti-Tito party, perhaps in an effort to bolster Djilas' desire for a closer alignment with the Western democracies. Tito, on the other hand, has expressed a desire for "normalization" and "equal rights" between East and West.

The communique said a preparatory committee for the foundation of a socialist party of Yugoslavia was formed today. It reported that 12 of the 18 delegates at the congress are members of the Communist Alliance, the ruling party which dominates the government.

BASIC AIMS

It listed the following known basic objectives:

1. "The party will fight with legal means for socialism against dictatorship of a small group of people protecting their personal positions from the attempt of the people's masses to introduce democracy . . .
2. "The party will merge the positive traditions of the liberation war, but will fight for the principle of the participation by members of the present Communist Alliance in leading the state."
3. "The party will fight in the interest of the people for fulfillment of freedoms which do not exist in our country now."
4. "The party will use all of its strength to raise the standard of living of Yugoslavia, which is now the lowest in Europe."

Alabama Bank Yields $10,000 To Burglars

GEORGIANA, Ala., March 28 (AP)—Burglars broke into the Citizens Bank and made off with an estimated $10,000. Police Chief J. A. Gaston said today.

The robbery was discovered about 4 p.m. today, he said. It was the third major burglary in this small Alabama town in a month.

Gaston said the burglars did not get into the currency vault and made their haul mostly in silver.

The police chief quoted cashier W. M. Wise as saying while it will take some time to verify the actual amount, it would run perhaps $10,000, all covered by insurance.

The burglars used pipe cutters to gain entrance to the bank by slicing bars off a back window.

They chiseled off the dial on the safe and punched out the pins to get the door open.

The robbery apparently took place Saturday night or early this morning, Gaston said.

Thieves broke into the Taylor Mercantile Co. several weeks ago, walking off with $7,000, and the Hartley Motor Co., where they got $3,000, both the same night.

Rep. Wheeler Joins in Urging More Milk For Navy's Gobs To Reduce Dairy Surplus

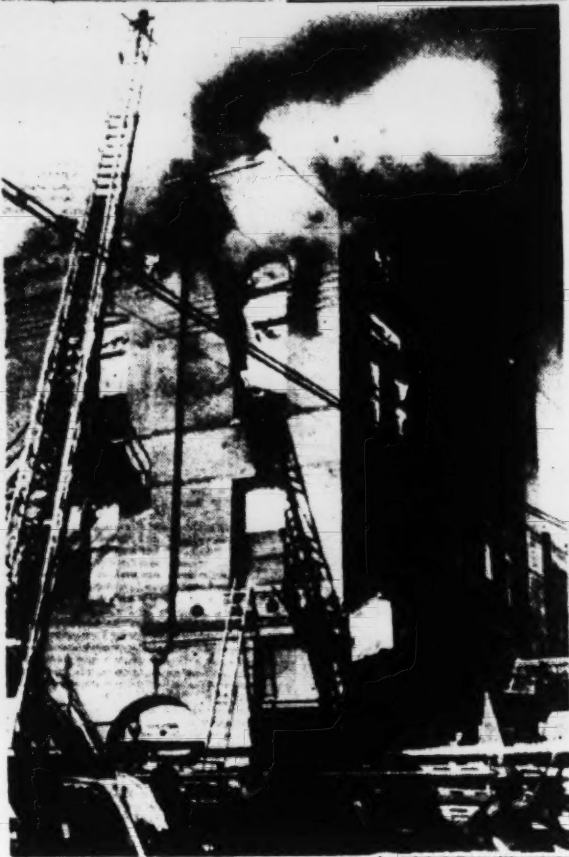

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—A campaign to get more milk for the Navy's gobs was under way in Congress today.

The basic daily ration of one-half pint per man isn't enough for growing boys, in the opinion of farm-state congressmen.

And what better way to get rid of millions of dollars worth of surplus dairy products than to funnel good fresh milk to sailors, they add.

"If necessary, we can add milk tankers to the fleet," said Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.). "And why not?"

The Navy milk ration was brought to Congress' attention by Rep. Cooley (D-N.C.), senior Democrat of the House Agricultural Committee, who termed it "shocking."

600 Dock Men March On Capital

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—More than 600 striking longshoremen mobilized tonight for a protest "march" on Washington tomorrow as the National Labor Relations Board won a federal court restraining order halting an alleged secondary boycott of cargoes diverted to Baltimore.

Federal Judge William C. Coleman issued a temporary order in Baltimore prohibiting allegedly illegal activities by 4,500 longshoremen working the docks there.

Considerable shipping has been diverted from New York during the 24-day strike. Baltimore has been doing its biggest business since World War II, due to the stoppage in the nation's biggest city.

Coleman told the Baltimore longshoremen they could cause irreparable damage if they continued their present activities for another day.

JURISDICTIONAL DISPUTE

The Baltimore dock workers are members of the independent International Longshoremen's Union, which is involved in a jurisdictional dispute with the AFL longshoremen for control of New York's 24,000 longshoremen.

The New York longshoremen delegation planned to picket NLRB headquarters in Washington tomorrow to protest the board's refusal to recognize the ILA.

Wheeler (D-Ga.) said that with dairy surpluses piling up at a rate costing the taxpayers millions of dollars a day in the storage charges alone, the least the government can do is require the armed services to serve more milk and butter to servicemen.

Navy rations are determined by law. The 1933 ration statute, still in effect, prescribes a daily allowance per man of a half pint of fluid milk, four ounces of evaporated milk or one ounce of powdered milk, 1.6 ounces of butter, and a half ounce of cheese.

Sailors on shore duty have little trouble supplementing this ration, but on long sea voyages fresh milk is practically nonexistent.

The Army and Air Force have no basic ration like the Navy. Their allowances are fixed by presidential order. They can also serve margarine, unlike the Navy.

Wheeler estimated that if the ration were increased to one pint of milk a day for all servicemen, it would dispose of a billion pounds of milk a year.

Rep. Andresen of Minnesota, senior Republican on the Agriculture Committee, said he was going to introduce a bill making a pint a day mandatory for all men in the armed forces.

"When there are surpluses of food, they should be used by other agencies of government, and particularly the armed forces," he declared.

Shun Free Drink, Skip Scandal, Grads Told

KYOTO, Japan, Monday, March 29 (AP)—Latest advice to college graduates: Don't duck that tab, grab it. Down-free drinks is despicable.

Pres. Y. Yakigawa told the graduating class of Kyoto University:

"My final warning to you is always pay for your own drinks, never touch a drink paid for by others. All the scandals in the world of politics today have their cause in the despicable habit of swallowing free drinks."

Mill Union Turns Down 15 Pct. Cut

Textile Plea Fails At Woonsocket

WOONSOCKET, R.I., March 28.

More than 1,000 textile workers today rejected a management proposal for a 15 per cent reduction in wages and fringe benefits.

Roland H. Benoit, president of the Industrial Trades Union of America (Ind.), said the workers represented 4,200 employees in 17 Woonsocket woolen and worsted mills and textile dye houses.

The plants formerly employed 7,000. The proposal was made by the Woonsocket Association of Manufacturers.

Benoit said the workers unanimously voted in favor of a "no contract, no work" motion. The contracts are due to expire Wednesday at midnight.

ANOTHER SESSION

However, another negotiating session is scheduled for tomorrow at 2 p.m. (EST). Federal and state conciliators will attend.

Asked if a strike is expected Wednesday night, union leaders said: "If we get another contract extension, the 'no contract, no work' proposition does not apply. We have repeatedly stated our position on the question of wage cuts."

"We definitely are not going to become leaders, we can't break the wage pattern," Benoit said.

"EXTEND CONTRACT"

"We have offered to extend the contract as we did in previous years; American Woolen hasn't settled its affairs, nor sat down with the CIO to set a pattern this year; that's not our fault."

Union leaders said the average hourly wage in the woolen worsted mills is about $1.60 and that a 15 per cent slash would mean an hourly cut of between 25 and 30 cents.

The union president said that increased work loads accepted by the union represented a loss of between 27 and 31 cents an hour for workers.

Jail Hadn't Been Used for 16 Years, So Town Auctions It To Fix Streets

SAND FORK, W.Va., March 28 (AP)—Crime seems to present no problem for this town of some 250 persons.

The jail was auctioned off yesterday for $231 and proceeds are to be used to repair the town streets. Council member Ray Jones said the small frame building hadn't been used for at least 16 years to put badmen behind bars.

A local trucker bought the jailhouse, but he hasn't said what he's going to do with it.

Mundt Wants To Finish Army-Stevens Probe First

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—Senator Mundt (R-SD) said today the Senate investigations subcommittee should finish its fact-finding job in the row between Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) and top Army officials before embarking on any new hearings.

McCarthy, who has turned over the subcommittee's chairmanship to Mundt while that probe is made, has indicated he would like to go ahead with other investigations in the meantime.

Inability to obtain special counsel has delayed the start of the subcommittee's public hearings on the charges and countercharges exchanged by McCarthy and Army Secretary Stevens and their aides.

Mundt said he did not think it would be possible now for the hearings, which are to be telecast, to get under way before next week.

McCarthy last week suddenly called, and then canceled within an hour, a subcommittee meeting to go over what he called evidence of Communists in defense plants and of graft and corruption in Alaskan development projects, with a view to starting public hearings.

MOVE VETOED

The three Democrats on the subcommittee and Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) vetoed the move, saying agreement had been reached earlier by all the members that no other hearings would be held until after the public airing of the McCarthy Army dispute.

McCarthy joined in the agreement, but said later that at the time it was made, members had anticipated a prompt hearing of his controversy with Army officials.

Despite the delay, however, Mundt aligned himself with subcommittee members opposing a change in plans.

"FINISH THIS JOB"

"I certainly don't think we should open any new hearings," he said in an interview. "I think we ought to finish this job before we have any other hearings."

Mundt said, however, he had been receiving some letters saying the subcommittee ought to get its probe out of the way "so you can go back to investigating Communists and crooks."

McCarthy Foes Form 'Joe Must Go' Club

SAUK CITY, Wis., March 28 (AP)—A "Joe Must Go" club to handle a campaign aimed at recalling Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) from office was formed today.

Between 400 and 500 persons, from 43 of Wisconsin's 71 counties, met in a ballroom in this small town of 1,700 on the banks of the Wisconsin River.

The meeting was quiet and orderly, but as time went on the gathering became more lively and led by about 20 University of Wisconsin students, chanted "Joe must go." Several television and motion picture newsreel cameramen were on hand to record the event.

Leroy Gore, editor of the weekly Sauk Prairie Star, who initiated the recall campaign, told the audience that 125,000 people already had signed petitions for a special recall election. He said that nearly 404,000 signatures would be needed within a 60-day period to bring about the special election.

Ivan Nestingen, an attorney from Madison who was temporary chairman of the meeting, said the petition campaign would close May 17.

Gore said he has been a Republican for 30 years and supported McCarthy's re-election bid in the 1952 election, but he said he feels recall of McCarthy would be "for the good of the nation and the good of the state."

"I was convinced," he said, in explaining his campaign for the recall, "that a great many people who supported McCarthy in 1952 were awaiting the opportunity to express change in sentiment."

Gore, who had called today's organizational meeting, said he wanted a statewide committee to take over the job because he considers it too big for one man.

Gore was named to an 18-man steering committee, along with one county Republican chairman and six Wisconsin weekly newsmen. The GOP leader is Harold Michael of Amery, chairman of the Polk County Republicans.

"OVERWHELMING"

Gore said that the response to his initial appeal has been "overwhelming." He said he has received about 3,500 letters, the vast majority favorable to the recall project.

The Sauk City newsman said that he put about $700 of his own money into the campaign, most of it for petitions. He said he had offers of financial help from several Milwaukee labor groups but had turned them down because he wanted the project to be "a small man's movement."

Gore mentioned that there has been some question whether the state's laws regarding recall of elected officials can be applied to a United States senator. But he

OR TAKE MORE VACATIONS

Want To Get a Heart Attack, Make Coronary Club? Here Are 10 Rules

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

KANSAS CITY, March 28 (AP)—Ten rules for membership in the Coronary Club—all invitations to heart attacks—are cited by Francis J. Curtis, St. Louis business executive.

Curtis, vice-president of Monsanto Chemical Co., listed his rules in urging conservation of executives in a speech to the American Chemical Society.

Here are Curtis' 10 rules which he says are invitations to a heart attack:

1. Your job comes first; personal considerations are secondary.
2. Go to the office evenings, Saturdays, Sundays, holidays.
3. Take the briefcase home on evenings you don't go to the office. This way you can review completely all troubles and worries of the day.
4. Never say no to a request; always say yes.
5. Accept all invitations to meetings, banquets, committees, etc.

6. Don't eat a restful relaxing meal—always plan a conference for the meal hour.

7. Regard fishing, hunting, golf, bowling, billiards, cards, gardening, as a waste of time or money.

8. Believe it's poor policy to take all the vacation allowed you.

9. Never delegate responsibility to others, carry the entire load yourself at all times.

10. If your work calls for traveling, work all day and drive all night to keep the next morning's appointment.

Curtis said he believes a main way to help people avoid coronaries is through psychological help, such as conferences between a man and his boss where problems are discussed openly to resolve or avoid unnecessary worries.

CANCER GETS CREDIT

"I believe that worry has killed more men than cancer, though cancer often gets the credit. Men worry about a great many things, not all of which can be helped nor should be. But there is a definite limit to what might be called healthy worries and unhealthy ones, and many of the unhealthy can be eliminated."

Taking of full vacations should be enforced, Curtis said. And besides the big vacation break each year, "there should be a number of minor ones such as long weekends or afternoons off for golf."

"The important thing about these breaks is that they should be on schedule and enforced. Any claim that this cannot be done is silly. A vacation can be an engagement just like everything else and if known beforehand can be provided for as well as an impending meeting."

Slum Clearance Takes Body Blow

There is money in slums—for the landlord ownership that is. Or as Mayor Zeidler of Milwaukee expressed it last summer, "Slums exist because they are profitable—so profitable the owners find it much cheaper to resist and avoid the laws to prevent slums or even to pay the fines for failure to conform."

But the price of slums to the community is squalor and filth and crime, disease and death for the inhabitants, decay at the heart of the slum-infested city.

The best answer to slums, said the Milwaukee mayor, is to tear them down. Tearing them down is known as slum clearance.

Slum clearance has taken a body blow in Washington. The House appropriations committee proposes seriously to cripple, then kill, the national housing program. It recommends cutting the 35,000 units a year the President wanted back to 20,000 units for next fiscal year, to 15,000 the next year and none after that.

A cutback in federal aid to housing presents a serious problem to cities plagued with slums. Atlanta is no exception. Our city is blighted by the presence of 8,000 to 10,000 houses dilapidated beyond repair. Atlanta doesn't have the money to go it alone. Without federal funds the clearance program will bog down.

Representative Phillips (R-Calif), chairman of the committee which wrote the new bill, said slum clearance was the only justification he could find for Ike's four-year, 140,000-unit program.

What better reason could he want than the tearing down of unfit housing and its replacement with something decent?

But then as the Milwaukee mayor said, slums are profitable—the owners resist laws that would prevent slums.

The owners' lobby evidently has been at work.

Dean Drewry's Award Was Richly Deserved

Dean John E. Drewry of the University of Georgia's Henry W. Grady School of Journalism has been awarded the Gold Key, the highest honor of the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association, for his outstanding contributions to the school press field.

Dean Drewry was recognized for his work in the organization, development and direction of the Georgia Scholastic Press Association. The latter soon will hold its 27th annual convention at the Grady School. It has made many worthwhile contributions to the field of journalism.

Few students connected with high school journalism ever actually go into the field. But some of them do and those who do not gain an appreciation for and understanding of the functions of a free press that is beneficial to the country.

We are grateful to Dean Drewry for his contributions to better newspapers and a better relationship between the press and the public through the high school press. We congratulate him upon this well-deserved recognition for outstanding service.

Georgia's 'Golden Age' Left Ills for Future

Those of us who are wont to look back on the days prior to 1865 as the golden age in Georgia and the South will find little comfort in a new book by the University of Georgia's Prof. Willard Range. He most definitely doesn't share that opinion and his work, "A Century of Georgia Agriculture," supplies the proof.

A century ago the majority of Georgians had a comparatively low standard of living. In the agricultural society in which cotton was king, this contributed also to a low standard of farming. Citizens were concerned with a high "standard" in spiritual and moral things but were little concerned with economic progress.

Slovenly and destructive practices in agriculture were visible everywhere. Chief among them were the general disregard of the land and abuse of it, the general disrespect for grasses and soil saving, a lack of interest in livestock, a haphazard and unsystematic method of preparing land and cultivating crops, and the tendency to look to the North and West for supplies while the Southern farmer devoted his energies to the "homage of King Cotton."

This agricultural empire, based on slaves and exploitation of the land, was headed for destruction on its own accord long before the jolt of the War Between the States forced us to change direction. At that, hampered by restrictions that rendered industrialization almost impossible, the South made little headway in correcting its basic faults.

Today we are beginning to reap the rewards of realizing our mistakes and correcting them. Prof. Range believes that as a result the South is on the threshold of its greatest era. Industrialization has been the big factor—the growth of the cities that have made markets for the products of dairies, truck gardens and livestock farms. The new era has brought such things, too, as paved roads and libraries, electricity, increased credit facilities and an interest in education and scientific agriculture.

The "golden age" carried within itself the evils that destroyed it, along with much of our soil resources. It has cost us in pride and effort to change, but change we have and the revolution has brought new life and hope to a third of the nation.

Issues Becoming Clear As Election Time Nears

With the first primary only a few weeks away, politicians and voters are taking a look at the issues now building up. These are reflected in many activities in Congress, but others are smoldering beneath the surface and are likely to explode with full fury come summer.

A Congressional Quarterly survey indicates that the top 10 issues now are about as follows: Economic readjustment, farm problems, taxes and government economy, foreign policy, defense, power and conservation, business—big and small, coddling Communists vs. McCarthyism, labor and welfare and civil rights.

On each of these issues there has been a fairly clear division in Congress. Most of them stem from the Eisenhower program, and surprisingly enough, Democrats have given some of the features of the program more support than Republicans. On the questions of farm problems, taxes, power and conservation and economic policies the Democrats have disagreed.

It will be a long, hot summer, not cooled off any by the fact that there will be Senate and gubernatorial elections in 44 of the 48 states and a complete House of Representatives turnover.

It will be rather warm here in Georgia, too, where we must elect a governor and a legislature. And we'll have an entirely different set of issues. When it's over, however, the people will have had ample opportunity to decide the merits of the cases and we can only pray that the decisions are correct. It's so much better than having no issues and no candidates.

'Thanks, Officer! You May Have Saved My Life'

Move over and make room at the head of the safety class for Richard C. Wolff of New York City. Mr. Wolff knows a favor when he sees one.

Arrested for speeding, this New Yorker turned to the deputy sheriff who caught him and said:

"I want to thank you. You may have saved my life and perhaps the lives of others. I had been to a sports show in Syracuse and was driving back home to attend another. I guess I just was not thinking. But thanks for arresting me. I guess I'm lucky you did."

What we need is more good sports like Mr. Wolff and fewer motorists whose embarrassment, resentment and anger at having been caught breaking the law is like that of a little boy being spanked for throwing a rock through a neighbor's window.

Drunk Drivers Given Stern Word of Warning

The Tennessee Supreme Court recently upheld a second-degree murder conviction in the case of a man who was driving his car while drunk and killed a woman and her young daughter. It makes precedent and puts drunk drivers on stern notice.

The defendant pleaded that he was so drunk at the time that he could not even remember the so-called accident. He argued, therefore, that there could not have been any intent to kill, which is required in a conviction for murder in the second degree.

The opinion of the court as reported by Chief Justice A. B. Neil was that the "intent is evidenced by the unlawful act." It went on to say: "One who knowingly drives an automobile while drunk, which is dangerous to human life, will not be heard to say that he has no intention of harming others."

The court had previously upheld both voluntary and involuntary manslaughter convictions in cases of death caused by drunken driving, but this was the first time a conviction for murder in the second degree for that reason had been sustained. The conviction in question carried a sentence of not more than 15 years in prison.

The court's ruling is a long step toward general recognition of the gravity of the offense involved in driving a car while drunk.

Ex-Public School Teacher Says Legislature Should Give Salary Problems Fair Hearing

College Park—I watched with amused detachment the frantic antics of the GEAs here in convention. Now I will wait and see just how dear to the hearts of Georgians their teachers really are.

Last year I served as a delegate to the state Educational Assn. convention in a neighboring state where I was teaching. We worked long and hard and drafted a very impressive list of resolutions to present to the legislature. Foremost among them, of course, was a pay raise.

After all our work we were forced to sit back and watch the legislature tear our resolutions to pieces. A pay raise was granted but in the final analysis it amounted to only fifty dollars a year.

The teacher pay-raise proposal always takes the spotlight at conventions but it is a very unpopular topic with the public at large. What they don't understand is this: Teachers spend thousands of dollars getting their degrees so they can teach and serve humanity. Teachers must also put out their own money to go back to school in the summer to improve or maintain their position. Other jobs do not demand this.

I sincerely hope that the state of Georgia and its legislature will stand behind their teachers and give them the problems a fair hearing and not follow the excuses of so many other states.

It is no secret why good qualified teachers are scarce. When the income is in proportion to the output—they will be available.

Give Silent Treatment To Senator McCarthy

Atlanta—I agree with Charles Lester Smith regarding Mr. McCarthy. I was planning to write and propose giving him the "silent treatment". True, as the editor

Raymond Duncan

Neighbors, Tax Men Know The Answers and Then Some

Editor's Note: Raymond Duncan, editor of The Ellaville Sun, is also Schley County school superintendent. That's why he must fill out a loyalty questionnaire. The following appeared in his paper:

To prove my loyalty to the American form of government, I must fill out a questionnaire that stretches from here to deep centerfield. If I don't do it, I go off the payroll, so if you think I'm not going to comply you are as foolish as some of the questions. I didn't even ask that the instructions be repeated because I understood the first time.

Honestly, I don't mind the "invasion of privacy." My neighbors and the Internal Revenue Department know all there is to be known anyway, and a great deal more than the questionnaire asks.

But I can't see how all this would uncover any Communists. If I were a Communist I would deny it.

It is good for Georgians to be stressing loyalty to the United States government. Although grandpa took the oath, most of us are still loyal to the Confederacy and many state leaders have been publicly advocating overthrow of the United States Supreme Court.

Most of the groups that collect my dues are trying to overthrow something. The Chamber of Commerce wants to overthrow Northern industries; the church, sin; the Georgia Education Association, resistance to adequate educational needs; the Farm Bureau, interests that oppose fair farm prices; the library board, ignorance; Sigma Delta Chi, obstacles to a literally free press.

But all do so because we are a free people and our allegiance to democracy is as natural as breathing. We like and speak up for our freedom. Beside that, it's a religious principle with some of us. We Southern Missionary Baptists said in reply, "You can't put out a fire by ignoring it." And I say neither can you put out a fire by adding more fuel.

I have been trying to determine just what McCarthy wants and what he is trying to get. Publicity is obviously what he is getting and evidently wants, but if his name did not appear daily in the press and if he could not afford to use radio time I believe his name would soon be forgotten. There are so many worthwhile things to be considered.

Church Is Inspiration Of All Free Nations

Atlanta—The first act of the Soviet was to seek to abolish religion. Why?

Simply because they realized decent, God-fearing people would not try to digest their impossible absurd theories and pronouncements.

The hope and inspiration of free nations is the church.

If everyone in the United States would attend church only one day a week, McCarthy would be out of a job.

Father Gets In the Way

The Notre Dame sociologist who said Father is just a blur in the TV age knew of what he spoke. However, I am not as much concerned about the picture of the paternal sire created by such dramas as "Life of Riley" as I am about how Pop gets treated around the house. There, Father is an obstruction who gets between Junior and the screen. Or if not that, his old-fashioned ideas about wanting to see something educational and instructive get in the way of the young-un's programming plans.

For instance, I was in a home the other night when the inevitable conflict arose—in this case, the news or Dinah Shore.

"I don't see why you have to see the news," the just-turned-school-age daughter said.

(To tell you the truth, I couldn't see why he did either, not when he could see Dinah Shore.)

"I must see the news because I am a newspaper man," the father explained patiently. "News is my business."

"Sometimes I wish it wasn't," the little one said sadly. "You know what I wish you were? I wish you were a fireman. Then you could sit at the firehouse and watch television. And I could see the programs I please!"

By the way, for how much can one get a secondhand second set? Speaking of TV, I like the story about the little boy who was sitting, hat and jacket on and suitcase at hand, watching the set when his father came in from work. "He's running away from home," the mother explained. "Just as soon as this program is over."

JEST FOR TODAY: A visitor to Bulgaria's Prime Minister, looking around the office, suddenly asked in astonishment, "What kind of telephone is that on your desk? There's an earpiece, but no mouth-piece!"

"If you must know," sighed the Premier, "that's our direct line to the Kremlin." — Decatur Kiwanews

HIGHLINES: The same fellow who said the way to beat the depression was to put your trust in God, your car in the garage, and your folks in the field has some new corn which will have from 7 to 8 ears on each stalk. From each ear will come a pumpkin vine and this vine will spread all around the field. The beautiful part of the scheme is that each pumpkin will contain a peck of shelled corn. If that is a lie, it ain't my lie. — Whitaker in The Grenada County (Miss.) Weekly.

With the big debate on taxes and who is to get the cut, I'll bet that the cut finally decided upon will hardly be worth all the effort. . . . Bob Majors in The News Record, Fort Gaines.

Who Is Sylvia? Who Are 'They'?

Mr. Spruille Braden, one of the top stars of President Roosevelt's diplomatic service, struck a popular chord when he testified about the influence of a group in the State Department that he could describe only as "they."

"They," he felt were a menace to national security. "They" were nearly everywhere.

Mr. Braden is a business man, an expert in copper mining, and is not the type to see ghosts. If Mr. Braden believes in "they," then "they" probably are there. Every outfit has its "they," and there is no reason why the State Department shouldn't have some too.

When the Good Neighbor policy was in full flower, Mr. Roosevelt drafted Mr. Braden for trouble shooting diplomatic jobs. He had lived a lot in South America, and knew the ins and outs and the whys and wherefores of those pleasant lands that seem to baffle so many of our diplomats.

One of his triumphs was maneuvering the Germans out of control of SCADTA, the leading Colombian airline, and thereby helping make the line, Colombia and the Panama Canal safe for democracy for the time being. Not so triumphant was his career as ambassador to Argentina. His on the ground criticism of Juan Peron not only seriously offended that gentleman, but apparently wounded the national pride. Seldom have United States and Argentine relations been as strained as they were following Mr. Braden's tour of duty in Buenos Aires.

Testifying before the Senate Internal Security Committee, Mr. Braden made it plain that his career with the State Department often was frustrating. Even when he was assistant secretary, he found his advice, particularly on Communists and Communism, ignored by "they."

"They," according to Mr. Braden

True Faith Saved The Repentant Thief

The other week I was in Virginia on a preaching mission. I was on the program with Dr. Clarence E. Macartney. For many years he has been pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Pittsburgh. He is one of the most distinguished preachers of our generation.

When I saw the program, my heart sank because it was arranged for both of us to speak the same evening and he was first.

That meant I would have to get up when he finished and I knew my sermon following his would be a big let-down for the people.

But when I heard the first sentence of his sermon I became so interested that I forgot I would later have to speak.

He started by saying, "I am going to speak to you tonight upon the greatest text in the Bible." Immediately I wondered what it would be. What would you say? I thought of the mighty miracles of Christ, the story of the creation, Moses giving the Ten Commandments, the angel announcing the birth of Christ, the account of Christ's resurrection, John 3:16, and others.

He went on to say, "I hesitate to read this passage because it is really too great for any preacher to preach about." Then he began to read:

"And one of the malefactors which were hanged railed on him, saying, If thou be Christ, save thyself and us. But the other answering rebuked him, saying, Dost not thou fear God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation? And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds: but this man hath done nothing amiss. And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom. And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with me in paradise." (Luke 23:39-43).

In that story, Dr. Macartney pointed out, we have the example of a perfect repentance, a perfect faith, and a perfect salvation. The man had done wrong and he admitted it. He offers no excuse for himself. He recognized in Christ the King coming into His kingdom and, though his religious training and understanding was doubtless very meager, he believed and expressed his belief. Though the man was a nobody whose life had not only been wasted but had been one of positive harm, Christ heard his prayer and saved him unto everlasting life.

Is there anything greater than that? The assurance that, no matter who I am or what my life has been, if in true repentance and faith I turn to Christ as best I understand Him, He will hear me and He will save me. He came to save sinners—that means He came to save me. And being saved by Him means more than anything else can mean.

Anti-McCarthyites Aiming at Control

WASHINGTON—What, really, is back of the fight being waged so furiously nowadays against Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin? The motives and purposes of those who are conducting the attack are not easily discerned. This is because many well-meaning legislators and numerous other Americans wholly disconnected from the political scene are being duped into attaching an exaggerated importance to personalities while failing to examine the real issues underlying the controversy over communist influence in America.

The well-organized effort to destroy the man who has been in the forefront of the battle against Communists in government and communistic influence in the making of American foreign policy cannot be explained away as simply a justified reaction or protest against the "methods" of a United States senator.

It was Felix Frankfurter, now a Supreme Court justice but then a professor of law and sometimes referred to as the "senior saint of liberalism," who derided the objections of conservatives to what they regarded as violations of privacy by congressional committee investigations. In an article contributed to The New Republic, a "liberal" magazine, on May 21, 1924, he wrote:

"The question is not whether people's feelings here and there may be hurt or names 'dragged through the mud,' as it is called. . . . Critics, who have nothing to say for the astonishing corruption and corrupting soil which

East Point Eyes Hospital Board

A special meeting of the East Point City Council has been called for 7:30 p.m. Monday to consider the feasibility of establishing a city hospital authority.

Roberts said he would ask council to give serious consideration to his proposal to establish an East Point Hospital under the Hill-Burton act rather than contribute to the South Fulton City Hospital Authority for a 100-bed hospital for the South Fulton area.

POST OFFICES

The mayor said Council also would be asked at the special session to take action on the proposed merger of small municipal post-offices with the Atlanta office.

Roberts recently quoted Rep. James C. Davis of the Fifth District as saying the merger was a Republican proposal being passed off as an economy move.

Roberts' hospital plan is opposed by the Rev. John E. Summers, executive secretary of the South Fulton authority, who said an East Point hospital would not be "for all South Fulton folks."

S. FULTON GROUP

The mayor, however, contends that East Point "could" build its own hospital with its proposed $282,900 contribution to the South Fulton Authority plan. Hapeville, Fairburn and Palmetto have become members of the South Fulton group. East Point and Union City have not joined.

The mayor has invited church, civic and parent-teacher organizations to the meeting at which a representative of a fund-raising service will discuss methods of financing the project through public donations and subscriptions.

If the authority is set up through council resolution, trustees would be appointed, and the body would then "be on its own," the mayor explained. It then would be a separate body from the city government.

Mayor To View City From 'Copter

A helicopter will land on the lawn at City Hall at 10 a.m. Monday to pick up Mayor Hartsfield and take him on a tour of the Atlanta area.

The mayor will be the guest of Jess Childress of the Southern Airways Co., which owns the helicopter. Hartsfield will get an aerial view of Atlanta's expressway, Buford Dam and various industrial sites in the area.

The Bell 47-G helicopter is the type that was used for rescue work in the Korean war.

Tech's Roll Ranks 3d in Engineering

Georgia Tech still is the largest accredited engineering institution in the South and the third largest in the United States, according to enrollment figures of engineering colleges for 1953-54 released Sunday by the U.S. Office of Education.

Two of Tech's schools, the Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics and the A. French Textile School, have the largest enrollments in their respective fields.

The three largest accredited engineering schools based on full-time enrollment are: University of Illinois, 4,082 undergraduates and 515 graduate students; Purdue University, 3,960 undergraduates and 322 graduate students; and Georgia Tech, 3,480 undergraduates and 189 graduate students.

The Major League Air

The second time Bill Ayers ever saw a major league baseball game he was one of the starting pitchers. The New York Giants, who had recently employed the tall, right-handed young man, were playing the Philadelphia Phillies in what was then Shibe Park. It was the second day of the 1947 National League season, and Manager Mel Ott, playing out a long string that began with the Giants as a 16-year-old catcher, had nominated the greenpea Ayers to charge the hill.

"Talk about a scared boy," Bill Ayers was saying seven years later, "but I was one. You can imagine what it was like for a country boy like me, never saw a big league park until a few days before, never saw a city that big before, and there I was pitching."

The way it happened, Ayers had won the pitching call on performance alone. The Giants had paid something like $65,000 for him, Earl McGowan and Lloyd Gearhart, three of the Cracker's finest of '46, in spring training, the Ayers boy, already 28 years old, had been spectacular.

"I'd pitched more innings and had the best record of anybody in camp that spring. I'm not bragging, honest, when I say I really had a great spring. We played the Cleveland Indians all the way across the country in an exhibition series, and I remember one day in Oklahoma City when me and Bob Feller hooked up."

"Man, I wanted to win that one bad. You know, beating Bob Feller meant something, and I pitched my heart out. I went for eight innings and finally lost, 2-1, on an unearned run. I think I wanted to win that game more than any I ever pitched."

—Spring With a Cranky Arm

Ayers' Philadelphia story didn't have the happy ending, either. He lost his stuff in the late innings, a normal thing for a fellow carrying an overload of tension, and the Phillies wiped out what had been a four-run lead.

"I pitched again in two days and I got some more starts, but I just couldn't seem to get going. Maybe I'd pitched myself out in the spring, but still the last four innings I pitched for the Giants I gave up only one hit. Then I found myself over in Jersey City and I've been on a merry-go-round ever since."

The merry-go-round is supposed to stop in Atlanta this year. Ayers landed with the Cracker last winter when the Oakland club became convinced he'd never go west again. As the climax to a series of unhappiness and misfortunes, Ayers showed up at the Oakland camp last spring with a cranky arm.

"I couldn't figure out what was wrong with it, unless I caught a cold in it on the plane flying out. Anyway, it was sore and the doctor they sent me to see said there wasn't anything wrong that rest wouldn't cure. But they still kept trying to pitch me, and finally I told Augie Galan, the manager, that I was going home. My wife was expecting a baby anyway, and I came back to Newnan. They suspended me and that's the way I ended the season."

—Twenty-One Innings to a Dead Heat

Ayers sat out the summer, mowed the lawn, pruned the shrubbery and, generally speaking, made himself popular around the house. When Earl Mann engineered the Oakland-to-Atlanta switch, Ayers was willing to come out of retirement.

"I always thought I was going to get back to the majors," Ayers said, and he pushed back the back of his cap and raked a rough sweatshirt sleeve across the brow. "After I won 21 games at Oakland in '51, they kept telling me somebody would buy me. But nobody ever came for me. Now all I want to do is make good in Atlanta."

"You know, they always said I hurt my arm in that 21-inning game against Mobile in '46. There's nothing to that. My arm never did bother me until last spring. There never was anything wrong with it. That was a real ball game for me. I went all the way and pitched 20 scoreless innings. Mobile used two pitchers, Paul Minner and Pat McGlothlin, and it ended 4-4 on account of the curfew. I came back for my regular turn four days later."

"These young fellows who get invited to big league training camps don't know how lucky they are. For most of them, it's just experience, but it does something for them. They get used to big leaguers and big league ways, and it gives a boy confidence."

"There I was in the big leagues for the first time, scared to death. I always thought if I had a chance to go to spring training before and get used to the big leagues, I'd be pitching up there yet."

"I got my chance, and a good one. There was nothing wrong with my arm. I guess I just hadn't been to the city often enough."

Bob Toski Wins in Azalea Open With 273 Total, 15 Under Par

Fazio Second, Three Behind

WILMINGTON, N.C., March 28 (AP)—Bob Toski, the little man with the big golf game, shot sub-par rounds of 70-71 today to win the $10,000 Azalea Open golf tournament by three strokes with a 72-hole total of 273, 15 under par.

The 5-8, 127-pounder from Massachusetts who now plays out of Livingston, N.J., made it four major victories since Labor Day as he withstood a blazing challenge by George Fazio, Pine Valley, N.J., veteran, who came from far back in the pack with a pair of 67's today for second place at 276.

First money of $2,000 shot Toski's earnings for the year up to $5,794, almost $200 more than he won in all of 1953.

Fazio won $1,400 runner-up money. Tied for third at 278 were Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., and Mike Souchak, Mamaroneck, New York.

Sharing fifth place at 279 were

Raschi Whips Yankees, 4-2

Holds Ex-Mates to Five Hits In 5-Inning Stint for Cards

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Vic Raschi held his former New York Yankee teammates to five hits in as many innings today as the St. Louis Cardinals topped the world champions, 4-2.

The result settled the spring series between the clubs at a game apiece. One game was rained out. The teams do not meet again.

Raschi, who was sold to St. Louis for $80,000 in a surprise deal late in February, gave up a run on a wild pitch. This came in the first inning after Gil McDougald tripled to deep left. The 35-year-old right-hander now has allowed but 16 hits and five earned runs in 21 innings.

Eddie Lopat, veteran Yankee lefthander, operated on the hill for seven innings and was the losing pitcher. He was touched for eight hits and three runs, one of the scores being unearned. Right-hander Johnny Sain, in his first outing, faced the Redbirds in the final two innings and gave a run in the ninth when Rip Repulski singled and Red Schoendienst doubled.

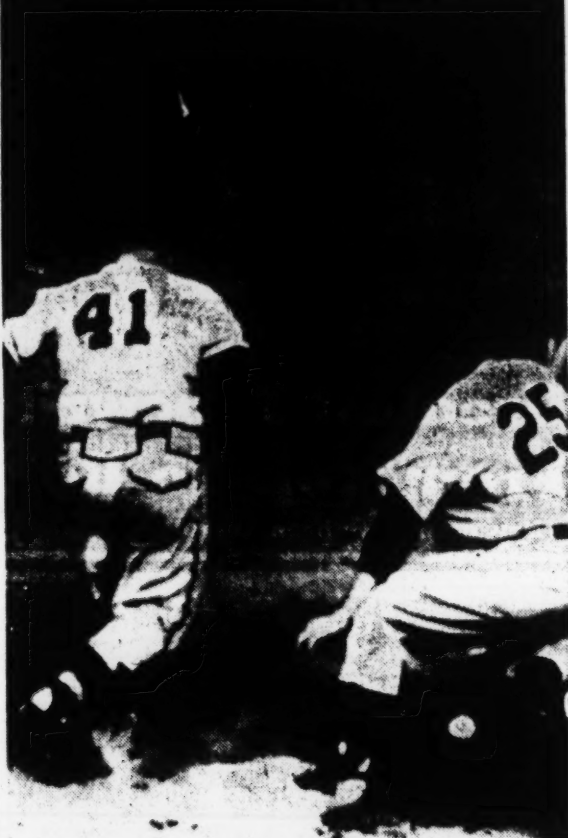

Al Brazie, 39-year-old southpaw, worked three innings for St. Louis and gave up a run in the eighth on two walks and a single by Elston Howard, Negro catcher. Stu Miller pitched the scoreless ninth.

Suggs Beats M. Bauer On Sudden-Death Putt

Drops 21-Footer for 2d Straight Title In Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls Tourney

SPARTANBURG, S.C., March 28 (AP)—Louise Suggs of Atlanta sank a 21-foot putt to beat Marlene Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., in a sudden-death playoff for the championship of the second annual Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls golf tournament here today.

The pair had tied with 220s at the end of the 54-hole event. It marked the second year that the defending champion had to win the hard way. Last year she had to go three overtime holes before trimming Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, the girl for whom the tournament was named.

Babe Zaharias of Tampa, Fla., who entered today's 36 holes with a three-stroke lead, finished third, one stroke back of the leaders.

First place in the $3,500 event was worth $875 to Miss Suggs. Miss Bauer won $630 and Mrs. Zaharias $490.

Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., matched the winner's final-round par 71 to finish fourth with 222.

THE LEADERS:
Louise Suggs, 74-75-71—220, $875 (won playoff); Marlene Bauer, 74-74-72—220, $630; Babe Zaharias, 71-77-75—221, $490; Patty Berg, 78-73-71—222, $385; Joyce Zinke, 75-72-75—225; Betty Hicks, 76-76-74—226, $315; Betsy Rawls, 77-75-72—224, $240; Mary Crocker, 76-76-74—226, $210; Marion Smith, 76-77-74—227, $175; Jackie Fung, 76-80-74—227, $140; Betty Johnson, 77-79-74—228, $105; Alie Bauer, 76-80-74—228, $70; Pat O'Sullivan, 77-82-75—234; Gloria Armstrong, 77-79-78—234; Bonnie Randolph, 78-81-75—234; Beverly Hanson, 78-81-75—234; Marjorie Burns, 78-79-78—235; Betty Dodd, 77-80-83—240; Peggy Kirk Bell, 77-79-86—242. Tanner's Pinch Blow In Ninth Nips Braves

5,169 See Crackers Clip Milwaukee, 2-1, As Giggie and Grissom Best Spahn, Jay

BY JESSE OUTLAR

The Atlanta Crackers, who have been pleading for help from Milwaukee, didn't need any Sunday afternoon as they trimmed the Braves, 2-1.

Bob Giggie and rookie Herb Grissom served up a five-hitter against the power-packed parent club, while the Crackers pecked Warren Spahn and bonus boy Joe Jay for 10 blows.

Chuck Tanner's pinch single off Jay with two down in the ninth sent Ted Laguna and the 5,169 Ponce de Leon Park fans home.

The Crackers' fourth spring success achieved via the same pattern as the previous three—a last inning rally, which gives Whitlow Wyatt's men one characteristic of the '50 pennant club.

On two occasions, Tanner has delivered the winning run, and few hits in Chuck's career have meant more to him than Sunday's single. He doesn't admire the Braves, to whom he refused to report this spring, and he got quite a kick out of landing the winning lick.

With a 5 o'clock curfew nearing, it looked as though the Crackers would settle for a 1-1 tie. But Laguna, landing his second hit, singled and advanced on a Jay wild pitch. Tanner stepped up and whistled his scoring single into left.

It wasn't the way to convince John Quinn that aid is needed, but the Braves' general manager witnessed both games here. If Quinn hadn't seen the Crackers get rocked, 11-0, Friday, he might have thought Earl Mann was fooling when he says the club must have help.

What Mann and Wyatt would like to have is a couple more pitchers like Giggie. For, on one afternoon at least, Giggie looked even better than Spahn.

The 20-year-old right-hander, who won a dozen games here last year, blanked the Braves on two singles and a scratch hit during his six-inning stretch. He did not allow a Brave runner to trespass beyond first, and Grissom, a promising right-hander up from Durham, inherited a 1-0 lead when he came on in the seventh.

Henry Aaron, attempting to make the long jump from Jacksonville to Milwaukee, put the Braves on even terms when he smashed a Grissom pitch into the distant left-field seats with two out in the seventh. Aaron, however, would have been retired, if Frank Turco had been more alert on a bounce towards first which finally broke foul.

The Crackers broke a 10-inning scoreless chain when they nicked Spahn for a run in the first. Fleet John Turco outlegged an infield hit, buzzed to second on a wild pitch, took third on Billy Porter's single and scored on another Spahn wild leave.

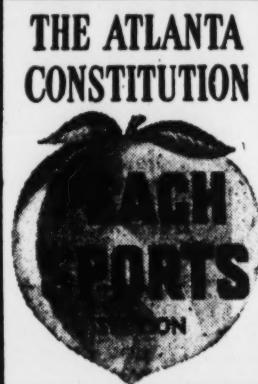

Spahn, 23-game winner for the Braves last year, toyed with the Crackers for the rest of his seven-inning stint. He was flicked for seven safeties, including a pair of doubles by Paul Rambone, but escaped unscathed with strong clutch pitching.

In the fourth, for example, the Crackers packed the sacks with one out on Jack Cerin's single, a double by Rambone and Vern Pettit's intentional pass. But Spahn slipped a strike past Jim Solt and whiffed Giggie.

Grissom, too, came through with some tight clutch work in the ninth. With one out, he signed passes for Sibi Sisti and George Metkovich. Both runners advanced when Nat Peeples stabbed Aaron's foul fly. Billy Queen drew a walk. But Grissom bailed out of the jam, getting Roy Smalley on an inning-ending grounder to short.

The Crackers have an off day Monday, and the Braves move down to Macon for a game with the Sally League Peaches. Jack Brittin will hurl for the Crackers Tuesday afternoon when they resume exhibition business at Fort McPherson. Vinegar Bend Mizell, St. Louis Card southpaw, probably will toss for the soldiers.

CRACKER DIARY: Manager Whitlow Wyatt was ready to hand Leo Cristante the opening-day pitching assignment against Mobile April 9, before Bob Giggie muffled the Braves Sunday. Now Wyatt will wait a couple of days before making his choice. . . . On the basis of his performance

CHOICE OF DISCRIMINATING BOOKIE

YANKEES 8-5, BROOKLYN 2-1 TO BATTLE IN SERIES AGAIN

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, March 28 (INS). We doubt that anybody is better informed on all sports than a big bookie.

Sentiment never influences his judgment and he is guided only by the cold dose in making his book.

Therefore, we were interested in getting the figures on the pennant races from one of the biggest of the fraternity and here is his first morning line.

NATIONAL DOGIES 2-1
Red Sox 2-1
Cardinals 4-1
Phillies 6-1
Giant 1-1
Mode 15-1
Cubs 20-1
Pirates 30-1

To satisfy our curiosity we asked him to give us a quick run-down on the teams as he sees them and he obliged as follows:

"Let's take the Dodgers first. You hear a lot about the Braves' pitching but I believe the Dodgers will have better pitching for the long haul. The Dodgers are loaded with strong-armed boys and that big Don Newcombe is a cinch to win at least 20 games."

"Bob Thomson, when his broken ankle mends, and Danny O'Connell have added a lot to the team but not enough to overcome the 18-game deficit they had last year. The Braves will be stronger, sure, but so will the Dodgers."

"The Cards may have pitching trouble and the Phils haven't enough power. Willie Mays will help the Giants but I can't see that pitching staff."

"The Reds may improve most of all under Birdie Tebbets but they lack pitching. The Cubs and Pirates simply haven't got what it takes."

"I've got to go with the Yanks again. They have everything and a great bench. Sure, some of them are getting pretty old but they have plenty of young stuff ready to take over."

"If Ted Williams gets back in time and has a big year, the Red Sox could make trouble. The Indians have yet to show me a real first baseman and a left-fielder and a hitting catcher."

"I like to watch the White Sox play but it seems to me they haven't got enough power. The Senators have some nice pitchers but they need hitting."

"The Tigers, Athletics and Orioles are the kind of clubs

Tech Eleven Opens Spring Drills Today

Fullback, Tackle Key Spots As 90 Gridders Turn Out

By EDWIN POPE

Georgia Tech trots out 90 spring football candidates Monday with particular emphasis upon a paradoxical fullback situation that is at the same time the best and worst in years.

It's all in the point of view.

If you prize experience as a virtue, the outlook is downright awful. Only one bona fide veteran—Johnny Hunsinger—returns among six fullback candidates.

If you prefer speed and natural ability to savvy, the prospect fairly glitters. 204-pound sophomore Dickie Mattison is Tech's first real bonecrusher at the position in the memory of middle-agers. He has frightening speed to complement the power, and more finesse even than the departing Glenn Turner.

Soph Ken Owen was considered a better prospect than Mattison when the two matriculated last year, still has plenty of time to make the prediction stick. Nor are any of the re-this fall, however, chances are Tech will line up with two of the tallest—and most inexperienced—tackles in football with 6-6, 231-pound Vereen on one side and 6-6, 223-pound Chuck West on the other. Both will be sophomores.

Others down for thorough trials include sophs Frank Christy, Don Miller, Bobby Woolf, Ormand Anderson and Stan Ellis; seniors Ben Daugherty and Rees Phenix, and junior Tommy Gossage.

Neither of Tech's two top individuals will practice. They are center-captain Larry Morris, an all-America, and halfback Bill Teas.

That leaves 23 lettermen around for the sessions terminating in T-Night April 23. Guards Jake Shoemaker and Frank Brooks are the only 1953 regulars among the 90 candidates out Monday. This operation will not offer as

Chattanooga Beats Senator Subs, 4-3

Bobo Newsom Leaves Retirement, Hurls Inning

ORLANDO, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Washington's six-game winning streak was snapped, 4-3, by the Senators' Chattanooga farmhands today.

Manager Bucky Harris of the Senators rested his regulars and four Chattanooga pitchers restricted the Washington reserves to five hits. Bobo Newsom, former major league pitcher who will be a Baltimore sportscaster this season, pitched the first inning for Chattanooga. Newsom is an ex-Senator.

Bob Porterfield worked the first seven innings for Washington and gave the Senators a 2-0 lead in the third inning when he slammed a home run off Gerry Lane after Bob Oldis singled.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.—The Charleston Senators tagged three Memphis pitchers for 11 hits, including three homers, to crush the Chicks, 7-1. Ken Landenberger poked a homer for the Chicks' lone score. It was a dismal day for Memphis. Pitcher Kelly Jack Swift twisted his ankle on the mound, George Moskovich pulled a muscle in his leg running to first, and Pitcher Bob Black pulled a back muscle warming up.

Charleston (S) 001 000 044—7 11 3
Nicolas, Swift (4), Yowell (7) and Davis; Pope, Foster (6) and Harrison.

BEAUMONT, Texas—Beaumont defeated New Orleans twice today. Les Fleming hit a two-run homer for Beaumont in the first game and Buzz Clarkson hit a two-run homer for the Skippers in the second tilt, called at the end of five innings on account of darkness.

New Orleans (AAA) 001 003 010 0—5 10 4

HAINES CITY, Fla.—The Little Rock Travelers, paced by Dolph Regelsky's three-run homer in the fifth inning, defeated Toronto of the International League, 5-4, here today. It was the Travelers' sixth straight triumph. Little Rock got only six hits against Toronto's 10 and three of those went to Ralph Brown who is hitting at a .500 clip for the Travelers.

BEATEN IN NCAA, PATTERSON GIRDS FOR AAU TITLE DEFENSE

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 28—Bump Gabrielsen, Georgia swimming coach, Monday begins grooming Reid Patterson for the defense of his National AAU 100-yard freestyle title at Yale Saturday and another crack at Ohio State's Dick Cleveland, who dethroned the tall Kentuckian as NCAA champion Saturday night at Syracuse.

Although Patterson failed to keep his collegiate crown in the 100, Gabrielsen thinks the Bulldogs captain swam better in both the 50 and 100 than he did at the 1953 meet.

It was Patterson's first loss in the 100, following 41 victories. Gabrielsen commented, "There are no swimmers who don't get beat at one time or another in national competition. Cleveland was considered the fastest sprinter in the world in 1951 but never won the NCAA 100 until this year."

Patterson made the fastest time ever to place second in the NCAA 100—50.2, and the fastest time ever to place third in the NCAA 50—22.7.

He will train at the New York Athletic pool for the defense of his AAU 100-yard title. The AAU record is 50.0 by Dick Cleveland in 1951. Patterson won last year in 50.6.

Vic Seixas Tops Larsen for Title

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the second-ranking U.S. amateur, defeated Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., 3-6, 13-11, 9-7, 6-3 today to win the men's singles championship of the Good Neighbor Tennis Tournament.

JOHNSON, HARTSFIELD LEAD UPWARD SWEEP

Sylvan, Brown Fire More Powerful Guns

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

For Brown and Sylvan, the two high schools that once were one, there is only one way to go as far as baseball is concerned. That's up. They both should go in that direction, too, but the big question is "how far?"

Richard Wadewitz's Golden Bears finished dead last in the City League race a year ago. Brown's Rebels, then handled by Bill Seabee and Jack Peek but now by big Tom Barton, were next to last and won only two games. Neither nine seems pennant bound in 1954, but both are vastly improved and figure to finish several notches higher.

Sylvan's hopes for an upward surge seem assured by the great strides made by Bill Johnson, Frank Applegate and Lester Dooley while playing last summer's ball last season. The Johnny Rebs figure to be tougher because they lost only one regular from 1953, outfielder-pitcher Carl Cofer.

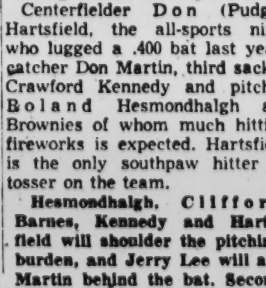

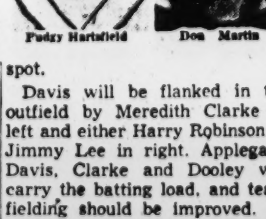

Johnson, fireballing senior right-hander, hurried Stewart Avenue Methodist Church to the finals of the City Recreational Department's sandlot tournament against winning Lakewood Boys Club and appears to be one of the top flingers in Region 3-AA as Sylvan's Tuesday loop opener with North Fulton nears.

Pug-nosed Dooley, hustling catcher who hits the long ball, and third-sacker Applegate, also starred with the Methodists.

Center fielder Howard Hartsfield, who hit .500 in 1953, has gone on. And top pitcher John Moore has moved away from Atlanta, but Sylvan will be stronger in most spots.

Center fielder Jimmy Davis will aid Dooley at times with the catching, and Jerry Durand and Lamar Hamric, both juniors, have developed tremendously as pitchers.

Sammy Letson and John Williams are back at shortstop and second base, and 10th-grader Tom Anderson, a fine prospect who has glue in his glove, will be at first. Clifford Cleveland, a ninth-grader tagged for future stardom, is pushing for an infield baseman Harold Hobgood, a 1953 regular as a ninth grader, and shortstop Bip Scott assure strong fielding around the keystone. Husky Donnie Meador will be back at first base, where Al Fain and Ronald Bartlett are giving him a battle.

Richard Dix and Boogie Kuykendall will face the barrier in left and center unless Eddie Maddox or George Heard break into the act. Dickie Bennett and Bobby Zueke also are seeking to disturb the status quo of the infield setup.

Pitching is the question mark of the still young team that includes only five seniors—Kuykendall, Martin, Hartsfield, Kennedy and Dix.

Manley Holds Azalea Title; Wright 4th

CHARLESTON, S.C., March 28 (INS)—Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., retained his championship in the ninth renewal of the Azalea Amateur Golf Tournament here today with a 289, six-stroke winning margin.

Manley coasted on today's final 18 holes with a four-over-par 75. He entered the final round with an eight-stroke lead on the field. Charlie Smith of Gastonia, N.C., took second place with a 295. He shot a 72 today to nose out yesterday's runner-up, Ben Goodes of Reidsville, N.C., by two strokes. Goodes, two-time holder of the Azalea title, showed poorly today, carding a 77. He wound up with a 297 total. Bill Wright of Atlanta took fourth place with a 298.

Brooklyn Sells Morgan To Phillies for $60,000

Baltimore Purchases Catcher Ray Murray From Athletics

TAMPA, Fla., March 28 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today sold utility infielder Bobby Morgan to the Philadelphia Phils for a reported $60,000 and second baseman Dick Young. Young has been assigned to Montreal, a Brooklyn farm club in the International League.

Morgan's purchase came after several unsuccessful efforts by Phillies' Pres. Robert M. Carpenter Jr. to obtain an infielder capable of filling in for Ted Kazanski should the latter be drafted into service. Kazanski has been expected to be called for some time now.

During the past winter Carpenter made offers for the St. Louis Cardinals' Solly Hemus, the Chicago Cubs' Roy Smalley, the New York Giants' Bob Hoffman and Morgan.

Brooklyn Vice Pres. Buzz Ravasi and Carpenter apparently closed the deal at a meeting this morning.

It was reported Ravasi yesterday had tried to swap Morgan for the Cubs' Frankie Baumholtz but was turned down.

Carpenter said the Phillies, with Morgan, will have "the strongest bench we have ever had" if Kazanski is not drafted.

"We have four promising youngsters, Danny Schell, Bob Micelotta, Joe Lonnett and Stan Jok, in addition to Morgan," he pointed out.

Morgan, a right-handed batter who will be 28 in June, has spent three seasons with the Dodgers, after leading the International League in batting in 1949 with Montreal. He also was named the league's most valuable player that year.

Originally a shortstop, the blond Oklahoman played all infield positions for Brooklyn, opening two seasons as the regular third baseman.

Morgan batted .260 in 69 games last year. In each of his three years with the Dodgers he hit seven homers.

Has Rough Fish Control Hurt Fishing?
Before You Complain, Check the Facts

Just to show you how people use their imaginations to bad advantage, there have been several crackpot complaints from people over the state, claiming that the rough fish control program is "hurting fishing" in their areas.

The rough fish control program does not even go into effect until Thursday.

There won't be a license issued or a legal basket used until after that time. So, how could it have affected fishing one way or another?

This talk is stirred by the same dunder-heads who scuttled Florida's program of fish removal to allow bass to breed and provide more large-mouth angling. Two months after the late Dan McCarty was elected governor of Florida, and as the rough fish control program there was being terminated, the first report on its results came in.

It showed that nearly 25 per cent more bass had been in the year and one-half that the program ran than in previous recorded years in five of the state's most heavily fished lakes.

Anyone who doesn't believe the special baskets will improve fishing over a period of time should ask the Lake Allatoona fisherman. There, they lowered the water during carp breeding time, and the latest census shows a 35 per cent drop in the rough fish population there. Several hundred baskets can produce the same effect by trapping out the carp and buffalo fish before they breed this year.

In Florida, however, they allowed special netting of bream where they were interfering with bass breeding and production. The bream anglers there thought violators were being allowed to do the netting and consequently revolted.

Repeating violators are not issued basket permits in Georgia, and the enforcement here will be much more strict over baskets than it ever has been before, in Georgia or anywhere else.

It will be approximately two years before we will realize the effect of the rough fish removal program. I, for one am convinced and am waiting for my point to be proven.

SHORT CASTS—"Gen" and Odessa Caldwell at Lake Chatuge got their limit of crappie early a morning last week at a fresh creek going into the lake on small minnows. The largest crappie weighed three pounds. . . . One hundred thousand trout eggs from Montana are now safely ensconced under the watchful eye of Dillard Davis at the new Lake Burton hatchery. That's the kind of future I like to look forward to. If you haven't seen the hatchery, drive up one Sunday and see it. . . . Wildlife rangers will probably not accept any lame excuses if you don't have the new license after Thursday.

Bobo, Kid Go Friday In 'Fight of Year'

Middleweight Crown at Stake
In 15-Rounder on Radio, TV

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco defends his crown against welterweight kid Gavilan of Cuba at Chicago Friday night in the "fight of the year."

The outstanding 15-rounder between the two champions tops a great all-around card for the week. It's truly the "week of the year" in boxing.

Other "name" fighters listed for action during the week include featherweight champion Sandy Saddler, heavyweight contenders Roland LaStarza, Don Cockell, Tommy Jackson, and Dan Bucceroni, Del Flanagan, Randy Turpin, Floyd Patterson, Percy Bassett, Ernie Durando, George Araujo, Art Persley, Armand Savoie and others.

The 26-year-old Olson, winner of 12 in a row, makes his first defense since he won the 160-pound crown by whipping Turpin last October. He is the 9-5 favorite to turn back the clever, 28-year-old Cuban who is hoping to become the fifth welterweight champion to win the middleweight title too.

Chicago's stadium is sealed to hold 19,400 and gross $300,000. Starting at 10 p.m. (EST). The bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast.

On Monday, Bucceroni, No. 3 heavyweight contender, takes on Jackson, the fast-rising, 22-year-old who stopped Rex Layne and beat Clarence Henry in his last two starts. Bucceroni is an 8-5 favorite.

The 10-round bout at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena will start at 10 p.m. (EST). It will be telecast (Dumont) to some parts of the country.

LaStarza, fourth-ranking heavyweight contender, opposes burly Don Cockell, fifth-ranking contender from England, in a 10-rounder at London's Earls Court arena Tuesday night.

This is LaStarza's first outing since he was stopped in 11 rounds by heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, Sept. 24. On the same card, England's Turpin, former middleweight champion, meets Sweden's Olle Bengtsson in a 10, and Trinidad's Yolande Pompey faces Italy's Ivano Fontana in another middleweight 10.

The Wednesday night TV fight (CBS) matches lightweight contenders Persley and Savoie at the St. Louis Arena. Starting time is 10 p.m. (EST).

Saturday night's coast to coast television fight (ABC, 9 p.m. EST), matches Bassett, top-ranking featherweight, and undefeated Cisco Andrade of Los Angeles at Washington, D.C.

YES, your engine may be 15% more powerful than you think!

And the reason is this:

Lead and carbon deposits are constantly building up in your engine. They "lock-in" power that you should be getting.

These deposits get red hot and set off the fuel charge ahead of time . . . before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you—not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition, and automotive engineers consider it the biggest cause of power loss.

You also lose power when these deposits make your spark plugs misfire. Building-up on spark plug insulators, they short-circuit the spark.

Both of these power robbers—pre-ignition and short-circuited spark plugs—are at their worst when you need power most—when climbing a hill or accelerating.

Now, however, you can change all this. TCP, a Shell-discovered additive, blended into Shell Premium Gasoline releases the "captive power" in your engine.

First, it "fireproofs" the deposits in your combustion chambers—to stop pre-ignition. Second, by making the deposits non-conductive, TCP additive stops the short-circuiting of your spark plugs.

Shell Premium with TCP acts quickly, too. In fact, before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. But, remember, because these deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell Premium with TCP additive is essential to retain its full benefits. It is the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead.

Shell Premium with TCP is available only at your Shell Dealer's.

Butter, Tax Switches Vetoed; Ike Mum on Alaska, Housing

By CLAYTON KNOWLES

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, March 28—Spokesmen for the administration ruled out compromises today in battles yet to come but no administration voice was raised in defense of two other programs under present attack in Congress.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said there would be "no last-minute switch" that would keep present butter support price levels instead of dropping them to 75 per cent of parity on April 1 as scheduled. He predicted President Eisenhower would veto any bill that would continue present rigid high price supports on other farm products.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, stated as flatly that when the administration's tax reform bill is called up in the Senate, there would be no compromise with Democrats who propose an increase in individual income tax exemptions in place of tax benefits the bill extends on dividend earnings.

VOTE BY WEDNESDAY

The White House was silent, meantime, with regard to two other program proposals, already greatly changed, that will be the subject of voting either in the Senate or House.

Debate is being resumed in the Senate on a statehood bill in which Alaska has been linked with Hawaii in disregard of administration wishes. A vote is expected by Wednesday on a proposal in further disregard of White House thinking that would substitute commonwealth status for statehood. Regardless of how this vote comes out, it will speed a final vote.

President Eisenhower, who sought statehood for Hawaii only, has declined to comment on the effort to pass a one-package bill. Strong Republican support for such an effort is expected in the present legislative situation although most majority senators opposed combining the proposals.

BACKLOG OF PROJECTS

A similar hands-off attitude apparently is being followed with regard to the administration's housing program which comes to a vote in two bills in the House this week.

The House Appropriations Committee cut public housing in the independent offices appropriations bill to 20,000 units for the fiscal year starting July 1 and 15,000 for the following fiscal year. These are not new starts but come from a backlog of projects already under contract. In slashing the program, the committee made it plain it planned to terminate it in two years instead of continuing it at least four years as the President had asked.

The Eisenhower program called for 140,000 new public housing unit starts over the next four years at the rate of 35,000 a year. The Housing Act of 1949 proposed construction of such housing at the average annual rate of 135,000 units a year.

This bill will be debated and voted upon Monday and Tuesday. Starting Wednesday, the House will act on an omnibus housing bill, reported by the Banking Committee, that contains no request at all for continuation of the public housing program. This is the committee that has jurisdiction in this field under the legislative reorganization act of 1946.

REVERSAL ON TVA

The sharp cut in public housing in the appropriations bill was only one of the provisions that came under immediate Democratic attack. They also criticized two provisions reversing long-standing policy with regard to the Tennessee Valley Authority. One would bar it from regulating rates on the resale of power it produces and sells. The other would require interest payments on all federal moneys advanced for power development.

Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, the minority leader, attacked such provisions in the $566,118,763 money bill for 30 independent federal agencies as "legislation" reserved for other standing committees in special areas.

In promising to oppose a special rule which would permit such provisions to stand, Rayburn said:

"There's going to be a fight. There's just an awful lot of legislation in that bill."

FEAR RATE BOOSTS

Rep. John W. McCormack, the Democratic whip, said the basic issue was whether the Appropriations Committee was going to be allowed to take over the functions and prerogatives of the other legislative committees. Rep. Jere Cooper and other Tennessee Democrats, fearing rate boosts in TVA country, will go before the Rules Committee to oppose clearance of the bill to the floor in its present form.

Later in the week, the Rules Committee will reopen hearings on the administration-backed St. Lawrence Seaway bill. When this measure is taken up, it will be two months, less a day, since it was reported by the Public Works Committee. The Senate already has approved the bill.

Despite the delay in the House, there has been no discernible administration "pressure" to bring the bill to the floor.

DEFENDS DECISION

Secretary Benson was interviewed on the National Broadcasting Company's televised "Meet the Press" program. In defending his decision to lower butter price support levels to the minimum permissible under law, he asserted that, with a billion pounds of surplus butter in storage and production still ahead of demand, no other course was left open to him.

He recalled that he was charged with setting prices "at a level necessary to bring in adequate supplies." He maintained he could "not set it above 75 per cent and comply with the spirit of the law." Support prices are related to parity, theoretical balance point between a farmer's costs in producing a crop and the price it will bring in the market place.

PREDICTS VETO

In predicting the President would veto a bill providing rigid support levels on all protected crops, the secretary admitted Mr. Eisenhower had "not said as much."

"But I feel confident he would in the interest of agriculture and the welfare of the country," Benson said.

Secretary Humphrey was guest on another NBC television program, "Youth Wants to Know." In rejecting compromise on the exemptions issue, he said it was "the wrong time and the wrong method . . . of reducing taxes." He said the course advocated by the Democrats would "put us right back into a very large deficit."

EXCISE MEASURE

The secretary did not express himself on the excise tax bill, now before a Senate-House conference. The measure continues present manufacturers sales tax rates on automobiles, gasoline, liquor and tobacco at present levels, vitiating cuts scheduled for April 1, but reduces the rates on most other levies to 10 per cent.

The net result is that $1,077,000,000 in revenue is preserved for the administration while about $1,000,000,000, the Senate cuts being somewhat higher than those of the House, is lost. The administration privately has conceded it cannot prevent these reductions in the bill that must be finally approved by the April 1 deadline.

Tornado Rips Town In Indiana

ANDERSON, Ind., March 28 —

A small tornado chewed into Anderson late this afternoon, working through 10 blocks of residences with enough force to tear several houses off foundations.

Another dip of what police said was a small twister churned through two blocks in the downtown area, breaking out plate glass windows, a skylight, and picking up one car and throwing it into another at the Sears, Roebuck and Co. parking lot.

MINISTER HURT

The Rev. Ernest Frederick Page, 63, was struck by a truck when it was picked up and thrown by the twister as he left the Christian Missionary Alliance Church, where he is pastor.

He was reported in fair condition at St. John's Hospital with a chest injury.

Sketchy first reports said that there were several houses blown completely off their foundations and others with roofs gone.

Reporter Robert Quinn of the Anderson Bulletin said that the twister left trees splintered off in WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—Americans spent almost $1,300,000,000 for travel abroad last year, the Commerce department's office of business economics said today.

This was $115,000,000 more than they spent in 1952, the office said.

Two hundred police officers gathered at their club in Cairo and adopted a resolution supporting continued rule by the Revolutionary Council, and opposing the re-birth of political parties. They added that if elections are held they would "refuse to help in running upon to do."

The length of the conference indicated an immense tug of war was on behind the scenes between Naguib, who wants to reinstitute parliamentary government in Egypt, and major elements of the ruling Revolutionary Council which fears a return to elections and political parties would mean a return to corrupt practices.

However, he told the throng massed outside Naguib's office, "We have not yet decided how the council will remain in office and by what means."

8 Steps to Increase Home Religion Urged

MITCHELL, Ind., March 28 (AP)—Representatives of 18 Protestant denominations ending a workshop today, recommended eight steps to make religion a major part of family life.

Laymen and clergy attending the three-day workshop sponsored by the National Council of Churches said new methods of putting "children on constant speaking terms with God are necessary because of today's high-gear living."

"Old patterns" of religious expression "are losing their meaning," said the Rev. Richard E. Lentz, chief of the council's Family Life Department. "But the essential nature and power of Christian worship remains."

"We are still on bicycles in an age of jet power and air waves," he said.

Workshop participants said worship on special occasions such as birthdays, holidays, achievements and in family crises would aid in

Pole Lost in Brooklyn Finds Raft No Way Out

NEW YORK, March 28—Many people get lost in Brooklyn, but few have ever done such a good job of it as Jozef Bielecki of Chicago did today.

He got so lost, and so discouraged, that he tried to get back to Manhattan on a borrowed raft.

If the crew of a fireboat hadn't spotted Bielecki in the middle of East River, he probably would now be drifting somewhere out in the Atlantic, astride an 8 X 10 foot raft with a piece of board for a paddle.

NO ENGLISH

Bielecki, a 27-year-old painter who came here from Poland as a displaced person, has been working in Chicago for several years but can't speak much English.

He set out from his hotel in the E. 50's this morning to visit a friend who lived on St. John's Place in Brooklyn.

At a subway station he couldn't find anyone who could speak Polish. It was a nice day, so he decided to walk.

Miles later, Bielecki found himself at the Manhattan Bridge. He walked across and was in Brooklyn.

But he still couldn't find anyone who could speak Polish. He began going up to strangers and saying "St. John's Place."

STYMIED

They could understand him fine, but when they tried to explain to him how to get there, he couldn't understand a word they were saying.

Bielecki finally decided to give it up and go back to Manhattan. But getting out of Brooklyn proved tougher than getting in.

He couldn't find the subway, and when he approached the Brooklyn Bridge with eyes alight, he discovered the pedestrian walk was closed for construction work.

Rejecting the idea of swimming the East River, Bielecki wandered around until he found a painter's raft tied up at a dock. Grabbing a piece of plank for a paddle, he set himself adrift and headed for Manhattan.

TIDE GOING OUT

But the tide was going out. When the fireboat spotted him, he was drifting rapidly toward the Narrows, his suit and overcoat soaked by spray from the rough, wind-swept river but his smart gray fedora still on his head.

A police ambulance was waiting when the fireboat got back to Brooklyn and, wonder of wonders, one of the policemen could speak Polish.

Bielecki told him the whole story, then went along submissively in the ambulance, to spend the night in a Brooklyn hospital recuperating.

It was hoped that sometime tomorrow, someone would help Bielecki get out of Brooklyn.

April Stirrs Memories Of Boyhood Caddying

NEW YORK, March 28—There seems to be an honest poetic difference about April. Henry Kirk White makes reference to "a peevish April day." Sir Henry Newbolt refers to "April's anger." Stephen Vincent Benet calls it "grimy April." Thomas Stearns Eliot, completely wetted by April showers, tees off on the month this way: "April is the cruelest month."

While conceding each of these distinguished word magicians his metric rights, this reporter always has experienced a particular sense of relief when April looms on the immediate horizon.

Perhaps it goes back to those April mornings when he caddied at Apawamis. Looking out from the first tee, the colored flags waving far out on the various greens, the morning moisture on the turf picking up the rays of the sun. April always was a moving experience. It seemingly did not affect those few Apawamis golf caddies who gave us the exact minimum of 35 cents for lugging their bags.

But even remembering the dull ache with which we'd palm the 35 cents, the wonder of April exceeded the financial pain. It always seemed to me that this month marked the birth of a new and gay season. Certainly it marked the end of winter and the wintry epilogue, March.

Your reporter suffered his first two great disillusionments at Apawamis.

Nicholas Murray Butler, then, was the celebrated president of Columbia University. And one week, he came to Apawamis to play. Caddy-master George Hughes assigning me the great man's bag, briefed me on Mr. Butler's background.

I was No. 98 at Apawamis. Gene Sarazen was No. 99, so Gene got the bag of a lesser light in the Butler foursome. "He gave you Butler's bag because you're Irish," gripped Gene. And he wasn't wrong, either.

Nicholas Murray Butler could not play golf within 20 shots of a later Columbia president, now in the White House. And Mr. Butler's bad golf only was exceeded by his bad temper. Every time he got into a bunker, he apparently labored under the delusion that I'd kicked his ball into the sand. Every time he was in the rough, he took his peevishness out on me.

As this is a column about April, it might be noted that Nicholas Murray Butler was born on April 2.

My second great disillusionment at Apawamis developed because an event contradicted something my mother had told us kids. When we'd become fretful because other kids seemed to have more comforts than we could afford, my mother would offer this solid consolation: "Rich people have money, that is true, but they never have happiness."

On this day, at Apawamis, I caddied for a very rich youngster. He was the happiest guy I'd ever met. He smiled all the way around the course. There wasn't a speck of meanness in him. And, to top it off, he gave me the unheard-of sum of $1 for the round.

My mother explained this seeming contradiction. "He probably came from a poor family, originally," she fibbed. I used "fibbed" because it seemed to me that there was a smile in her eyes.

Of all poetic approaches to April, the most interesting was that of Samuel Valentine Cole, who died in 1925 at the substantial age of 74.

"In April, Rome was founded; Shakespeare died;
The shot whose sound rang out from Concord town
And brought an avalanche of echoes down,
Shaking all thrones of tyranny and pride,
Was fired in April; Sumter far and wide
Lifted a voice the years will never drown;
'Twas April when they laid the martyr's crown
On Lincoln's brow."

Had the poet Cole lived longer, he would have added that a madman named Hitler was born in April.

But despite all of the somber evidence, your reporter still gets his greatest kick out of April. He goes along with Christopher Morley's:

"April prepares her green traffic light and the world thinks 'Go.'"

TV Offers 6 Rodgers And Hammerstein Hits

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Television audiences across the nation had a front row seat tonight for glimpses of six Broadway hits by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II.

The 90-minute show was presented on six TV networks by General Foods Corp. and featured excerpts from South Pacific, Carousel, Allegro, The King and I, Me and Juliet, and Oklahoma! General Foods was reported to have spent $750,000 to present the show.

Mary Martin, the original female star of South Pacific, was mistress of ceremonies. Featured singers were Ezio Pinza, Tony Martin, Rosemary Clooney, Yul Brynner, Patricia Morison, John Raitt, Jan Clayton and Gordon MacRae.

Comic interludes were supplied by Jack Benny, Groucho Marx and Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy. Marx appeared with Rodgers and Hammerstein in a parody of his TV show "You Bet Your Life."

WSB Show To Feature Detailed News Stories

A fresh and exciting approach to radio journalism, one never before attempted on such a worldwide scale by the network, will be launched by WSB-NBC Radio in a new five-a-week series, The Heart of the News, which will have its debut 10:15-10:30 p.m. Monday. It will be presented Mondays through Fridays.

Each night, a story—important in the news, but primarily covered only as spot news in the regular newscasts—will be detailed vividly in all its depth and ramifications through an approach designed by the NBC staff as "group journalism."

In announcing the new series, Davidson Taylor, director of NBC's Public Affairs, said: "We hope that listeners will come away from this program each night with new facts, new information, new understanding that they have not been able to get elsewhere." Such is the scope of "The Heart of the News."

Each day a subject important to the entire nation will be covered in depth by NBC's top reporters and commentators, aided by experts from other organizations.

The major facets will be investigated, interpreted and reported.

The personalities involved in the stories will be examined minute-

Sales Spurt On Way, Ike Told

ble in its early stages but will gather momentum after the turn to the year.

The White House advisers are encouraged by the fact that the decline which started as an "inventory adjustment" and became more serious when retail demand began to weaken has not spread to other major elements of the economy.

Continued activity in the construction field, both commercial and home building, along with healthy conditions in money markets and the recovery of much of the ground lost in the automotive trade, provide proof that the drop in business is destined to be minor and of short duration.

Most of the adjustments manufacturers have made in meeting the deadline to date have been through cuts in production rather than in prices, the advisers maintain.

PURCHASING POWER

They insist that consumers have ample purchasing power, as demonstrated by the growth in personal savings, but have approached the market gingerly because of uncertainty as to the stability of existing prices.

Reports reaching the White House from economic "listening posts" set up through the country indicate that where price reductions have been made to "test the market" the response of consumers has been immediate and enthusiastic.

In some areas, retailers have been putting on special promotions on such items as luggage, furs, jewelry, handbags and cosmetics in advance of anticipated excise tax reductions. Consumer response has been reported as more than satisfactory.

BUTTER DROP

One large food chain reported that it has been in anticipation of lower butter prices due when government price supports drop April 1 to 75 per cent of parity from the present level of 90 per cent.

Parity is the federal standard designed to give farmers a "fair return" on their products in relation to the costs of the things they must buy.

In one city the food chain advertised butter at 59 cents a pound, and reported that it did the equivalent of eight weeks' market.

volume on butter in the week the special sale was in progress. In another city where the chain is represented its stores sold six times as much butter in one week as they had been selling before.

The Department of Commerce, along with other agencies concerned with business welfare, has been conducting a mildly critical campaign among businessmen charging that neither manufacturers, wholesalers nor retailers have been putting the emphasis they could behind their products.

TAKEN TO TASK

At a meeting here of the Business Advisory Council, organization of top business leaders who advise the Commerce Department on problems affecting the economy, the business leaders were taken to task by Commerce Secretary Weeks, Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and by other officials, on the matter of sales effort.

Officials complimented the businessmen on doing everything that could reasonably be expected in the way of plant expansion, research and development of new products, but said that without aggressive, intelligent sales effort the other contributions were futile. They urged more newspaper advertising, on-the-spot sales canvassing to encourage consumer buying.

Somewhat sheepishly, members of the council conceded that in many cases they lacked sales staffs trained in competitive selling. Over the past 13 years, they said, their sales forces had operated in a seller's market and either did not know or had forgotten how to cope with a buyer's market.

When all the youngsters and women were provided for, the men started to get into the boats. But the fire spread so swiftly 300 servicemen and crew members had to jump over the side. Rafts, kegs, planks and anything that would float was tossed into the sea to help keep the 300 afloat.

Although flames seared the heels of some and choking fumes threatened to suffocate others amid toppling debris, the Empire Windrush's skipper, Capt. W. Wilson, reported:

"There was not the slightest sign of panic. It was remarkable."

Only six hours after the last survivor was rescued, hovering airplanes reported that the old ship, its funnel gone and masts

It was a spectacular end to a voyage from such ports as Kure, Japan; Hong Kong, Singapore, Colombo, Aden and Port Said.

The survivors were brought to this North African port city, where the injured were taken to hospitals and the others given food, clothing and shelter as the French administration mobilized its full medical and relief facilities.

The boiler room explosion sent a flash fire sweeping swiftly through the passageways of the 24-year-old trooper, built originally in Hamburg, Germany, in 1930 and seized by the British for war reparations.

"The fire was brutal," Capt. Wilson said when he was taken aboard the British steamer Socotra.

"It was a flash flame. As soon as I had given the alarm, an officer came to the bridge to warn me that the fire was gaining and three men and an officer had perished below.

Indochina Policy Wraps Being Stripped Off by Ike

Bien Phu this expression of my admiration and best wishes."

The commander of Dien Bien Phu is Col. Christian De Castries, a daring professional soldier whom the President previously mentioned admiringly at his press conference last Wednesday.

NO CONCESSIONS

Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson said in a radio interview today that the United States would make no "dangerous or fatal concessions" to the Communists in order to end the Indochina war at the five-power Geneva Conference beginning April 26. He denied that the United States had accorded Communist China a form of recognition by agreeing to negotiate with the Chinese at Geneva. "We are negotiating with Red China, not as a government, but as the principal enemy aggressor in Korea."

Numerous other speeches on Indochina and Far Eastern problems may be expected in the next few weeks. With Eisenhower's encouragement, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, is playing a leading part in formulating policy on these problems, of which he got a firsthand view during his round-the-world tour last December. He will speak on Indochina before a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors next month.

Key points in the administration's views on Indochina were explained today as follows:

1. Insofar as it concerns Indochina, the United States agreed to the "performance" at Geneva only because it was an internal political necessity for the French. The United States sees no possible settlement there now. No matter how you turn it, a political settlement under present circumstances would be tantamount to handing the country over to the Communists. The present weakness of the anti-Communist Viet Nam must be recognized. If the anti-Communist Viet Nam government and the Communist Viet-minh government were merged, the Communists could take over the whole government in two weeks. Chief of State Bao Dai agrees therefore that at present "there is nothing to negotiate."

TRAINING

2. If the French can be kept fighting for another year or two the anti-Communist forces can gain dominance, even though a clear-cut victory is improbable. In that time a "real Vietnamese army" can be organized. Then will come the time for negotiations. The United States does not agree with French contentions that the French are doing everything that should be done to train Vietnamese. Training should be launched on a much larger scale, with more attention to creating a corps of Vietnamese non-coms and junior officers who can fight with French leadership.

3. Unfortunately there is a "very real possibility" that, if there were a change of government in France, the French might decide too soon to give up the fight in Indochina. The United States public must be prepared for the big decisions that would then have to be taken. Someone would have to carry on the fight. It would probably have to be either the United Nations, or some other international combination. Although there is no mistaking popular American opposition to committing United States forces, and particularly ground forces, to further fighting in the Far East, the need for them would then have to be faced.

of relief with you!

"I think the whole world should know how I finally got relief from constipation! Especially since I tried so many laxatives and didn't get the relief I wanted!"

"I bought a bottle of Sal Hepatica at the drugstore one day on a friend's suggestion. And the next time I had that logy, headachy feeling due to constipation, I took a glass of sparkling Sal Hepatica. Took it half an hour before supper like the label said to. And, by bedtime, believe me, I really felt swell!"

Yes, take Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again... usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens your stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

SchoolBond Vote Slated In Fayette

Fayette County voters will go to the polls April 10 to determine whether or not they approve a bond issue of $125,000 for the purpose of replacing the recently destroyed high school and for improvements to the existing buildings.

Contracts have already been approved for three school building projects:

A new white elementary school at Kenwood, an addition to the present building at Tyrone and a combined elementary and high school for Negroes of the county.

Included in the original plans were an elementary school for Fayetteville and an addition to the Fayette County High School.

However, destruction of the high school by fire necessitated a change in the latter two projects.

New Bartow Plant

Hales & Hunter Co. of Chicago will soon begin erection in Cartersville of a new plant to be known as Red Comb Pioneer Mills, Inc. The Cartersville plant, estimated to represent an expenditure of about $500,000, will process feeds.

Gwinnett County's annual Field Day for all schools, to be held in Lawrenceville April 2, is expected to see between 300 and 400 students in competition. There will be 13 literary events and 15 track and field events open to high school students, with elementary students limited to two literary and two athletic.

For Upson Schools

School improvements for Upson County amounting to a million dollars will be contracted for in June, according to word received by Supt. Gordon R. Holston from the State School Building Authority. . . . T. J. Lord, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lord, Dudley, Rte. 1, and a seventh grade student at Dexter, won the Laurens County Spelling Bee. Winning second and third places were Anne Lovett and Ann Singleton.

Monroe Primary Set

The Monroe County Democratic primary has been set for May 11 by the county Democratic committee, announces Ed Jensen, chairman. Voters will elect three county commissioners, a state representative and a state senator. Qualifying deadline is April 1. . . . Thirty representatives from various sections of Barrow County met recently to form a "Keep Barrow Green" Council, and J. Dave Watson was elected chairman. . . . Almost 900 persons have joined the LaGrange Concert Assn. for the 1954-55 season.

JOUAM Drive

Charter membership of Dalton Council No. 430, Junior Order United American Mechanics, will remain open until April 12, announces L. T. McCall, national deputy and field man who organized the Dalton unit. . . . Mrs. B. B. Odom of Macon was elected president of the Sixth District Federation of Women's Clubs at a meeting in Sparta. . . . George Grove, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Grove of Porterdale, has been awarded the rank of Eagle Scout.

Andrew Celebration

Centennial week will begin at historic Andrew College in Cuthbert April 11, with alumni from all over the state expected, announces the Rev. A. W. Ray, Andrew president. . . . An all-out effort is under way at Albany to prevent the Albany State College for Negroes from being changed from a liberal arts and education college to a trade school. Indications are that a showdown on the contemplated change will come when members of the University System's Board of Regents and representatives of the State Board of Education meet in Albany Tuesday to discuss the situation with various groups and city officials.

'HAPPY ANNIVERSARY' FROM DANNY
Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pruitt Given Party By Son

Danny, 10, Gets Pinch Aid In Giving Parents a Party

Danny's parents were going to celebrate their 24th wedding anniversary, and the 10-year-old lad felt he ought to throw a party for them. A surprise party.

He ran into difficulties right off the bat. Danny had figured on borrowing $2.50 from an adult cousin to buy a cake. The cousin wasn't at home, so the boy, hurt by having to give up some of the surprise element, had to borrow the money from his mother.

The parents went out on the eve of their anniversary. Danny took advantage of the situation to enlist the aid of the sitter to make punch for a party the next afternoon.

The anniversary date was on Sunday. The boy tried in vain to get his parents to let him skip church. He couldn't tell them he wanted to go home and prepare for their surprise party.

The mother was prepared for the cake. She was surprised, how-appeared in the darkness. Both shots missed.

The fight flared up again minutes later.

Sgt. H. G. Young and Ptl. George W. Sanders picked up the trail near 14th and Spring streets, when they saw Jones run across the street.

MISS IN DARK

Sanders leaped from the car and pursued the fugitive up 14th to West Peachtree. He said the man raced between two houses.

"I was right behind him," Sanders said. "I shot twice and missed in the dark. He spun around and shot at me twice."

"One bullet knocked my hat off," Sanders said. "I fell to my stomach and fired twice more. When I got up he was going over a fence and I ran up to the fence and emptied my gun at him."

Other cars answering radio calls surrounded the area.

SPOTTED AT BANK

With Sanders and Sgt. Young close on his heels, four detectives—J. O. Smith, S. E. Smith, J. J. Morris and H. G. Mann—spotted Jones as he started to climb a ruttid dirt bank that hangs over the Expressway at 14th street.

The elusive suspect surrendered when he was surrounded. He had ditched his gun.

Jones was taken to headquarters where he was booked with suspicion of burglary. He also was questioned about recent burglaries on Peachtree Battle Ave., Northwest.

Ballet Is Wayside Show Theme

By YOLANDE GWIN

When it comes to planning a flower show, garden club members are apt to dream up anything from a United Nations theme to Br'er Rabbit in the Briar Patch.

And now ballerinas are leap-

The Wayside Garden Club members, who organized in 1941, have set their annual show for next Friday at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Edge on Austell Way. The girls chose "Atlanta Progresses" as its theme with sub classes such as business, professions, civic and charitable organizations, cultural arts, hobbies and sports.

One of the members, Mrs. Holcombe Green chose as her subject, "Atlanta Progresses Through Cultural Arts" and thereby got right in step with the Southern Ballet's seventh annual presentation set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Woman's Club Auditorium.

Mrs. Green has chosen the third act of Cappelia, one of the loveliest as well as one of the oldest of the classical ballets, as the background for her arrangement in the forthcoming show. She will concentrate on "The Wedding Scene" with exquisite flowers being used to augment a dainty dancing figure representing Swanilda in the ballet number.

Members of the Wayside Garden Club, of which Mrs. Randolph Throver is the president, has as its worthwhile project the planting of the grounds at the Osgood Sanders Nursery on Baker street.

MARY HAWORTH

Germ-Conscious Mother Drives Out Her Daughter

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My niece, Jane, 26, was engaged for five months but broke it off. Her mother (my sister) found it all very tiring and actually was glad when it ended.

I feel my sister hampered the courtship by being present, fixing coffee and cake, never leaving the two to chat by themselves. After breaking the engagement, Jane joined a club and immediately the mother denied her the use of the phone, to receive or make calls.

When Jane became friendly with a man the mother disliked, and kept late hours with him, the mother demanded she leave home — meanly, we felt. Jane left. As a result, the father is nagging the mother, accusing her of being cold blooded and nasty.

Also she is germ-conscious; won't let her husband wear his shoes in the house. She won't let anyone answer the telephone. She never goes out; she is always putting around the house, and never calls her sisters—unless she is in trouble.

Now she wants her daughter back but Jane is happy away from her. How can the situation be solved? C. L.

DEAR C. L.: There isn't much the family can do, directly, to curb or cure the distortions of a neurotically sick adult who won't admit a need of advisory help.

However, there are two things the family as a whole may do on your sister's behalf, that may help her indirectly.

First, pray for healing of the situation; make this a regular exercise. For guidance in meaningful prayer—to avoid meaningless mumbling — study "The Collected Papers of Evelyn Underhill" (Longmans, Green), a friendly discourse on how to pray.

Second, recognize the sick character of the patient's behavior and protect yourselves, one and all, insofar as possible, from unguarded involvement in her disorders. Her husband, her daughter, her sisters, each should adhere to rules of sanity in his (or her) daily routine, rather than fall into a habit of reflex obedience to her neurotic demands.

In my opinion it is progress for Jane to be living apart from her parents. M. H.

Miss Cofer, Mr. Woodall Are Married

At an evening ceremony solemnized Saturday at the Sylvan Hills Baptist Church, Miss Martha Cofer became the bride of Raymond Griffith Wood Jr. of East Point, with the Rev. Alvin H. Brackett officiating.

After the ceremony the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Cofer, entertained at a reception in the church parlors.

Miss Doris Little was maid of honor for the bride, and her bridesmaids were Miss Louise Byrd, Mrs. J. Reed Barrett III, Mrs. Lee H. Brown, Misses Nan and Rachel Cofer and Miss Emily Sue Woodall. Pleasant Ray of Cordele served as flower girl.

Best man was William Curry of College Park, and ushering were Donald Randolph, Virgil Cummins Jr., Lee H. Brown, Samuel Bowles Jr. of College Park, Charles Robinson and Woodson Mays.

Mrs. Willie B. Hurst, aunt of the bride, kept the bride's book.

Lawns Up to Twice As Thick with Sawan 'Vigosan Purple'

Now Time To Plant Purple Colored Seed

This Spring, grow the lush green permanent lawn you've always wanted. Plant Sawan "Vigosan Purple" Coated Lawn Seed now, the earlier the better. It will germinate quickly; develop heavier root systems; grow a deeper, richer year 'round green, and as tests show, produce stands up to twice as thick.

The remarkable "grow-power" of Sawan Lawn Seed is made possible by its exclusive "Vigosan Purple" coating. Only the healthiest, most hearty grass seed adaptable to this region receive the purple coating that enables Sawan Lawn Seed to grow the greenest lawns ever seen.

The formula for the "Vigosan Purple" coating is a closely guarded secret, but it can be revealed that it contains important vitamins, growth hormones, and plant stimulants, in addition to the most effective known seed protectant.

As a result, these seed do not suffer the high mortality of ordinary grass seed when pitted against deadly soil fungi and diseases. Rather, they live and enjoy a healthier, more vigorous growth. Able to take adverse soil and weather conditions in stride, a quicker, thicker lawn results, that with ordinary care, stays luxuriously green the year 'round.

There are specific Sawan "Vigosan Purple" Coated blends ideal for every shade or sun condition. They are Sawan Sunny Park, Sawan Shady Park, and Sawan Evergreen. Sawan's premium bermuda is also "Vigosan Purple" coated for faster germination, quicker, thicker growth. Only Sawan Lawn Seed are "Vigosan Purple" coated.

PURPLE SEED PRODUCE GREENER LAWNS—Biggest news in the horticultural field today is an amazingly effective seed treatment developed by Sawan, Inc., and called "Vigosan Purple" coating. Golf course greenskeepers and other turf authorities are reporting spectacular achievements with the purple-colored Sawan grass seed. Homeowners desiring permanent lawns of exceptional thickness and beauty are planting now. Read detailed story on this page.

'Swarming Termites' Is Signal To Call Bruce Terminix Co.

When you see winged termites, often called "Flying Ants," in or near your home it means that there are one or more termite colonies in the ground nearby. These "swarmers" leave the nest once each year to start new colonies. The worker termites, which eat wood, remain to continue their destructive work.

If this happens at your house, it is time to call Bruce Terminix Co. for a thorough examination by a trained inspector. He can tell you if termites are eating your building, and what can be done to stop their destructive work.

When faced with the termite control problem, thousands of property owners have turned to Terminix as sure protection for residential and industrial buildings.

You don't have to risk costly termite damage to your home. Terminix, world's largest in termite control, offers guaranteed protection that frees you from worry, saves needless expense.

Starting with research in 1921, E. L. Bruce Co., a leader in the lumber industry, has developed the famous Terminix system of termite control. The understructure is first given an all-over treatment to shut out termites.

By use of special pressure equipment, all vulnerable points in the structure are impregnated with the patented Terminix chemical. This usually includes ground area, timbers, and wall voids. Thus a lasting barrier is formed to prevent damage to your home.

Regular reinspections and maintenance service keeps this termite protection effective, year after year, to fully safeguard your home.

Performance of Terminix Contracts is triply guaranteed by (1) your local Terminix Company, (2) E. L. Bruce Co., (3) Sun Insurance Office, Ltd. Terminix Service is available to property owners in 44 states and Hawaii through representatives in 1300 cities.

A. S. Greener Jr., Manager of Bruce Terminix Co., reminds you that you will find Terminix advertised in the Saturday Evening Post and Better Homes and Gardens magazines. Mr. Greener has been associated with the Terminix organization since 1935.

The Terminix licensee covering most of Georgia, Central North Florida and the "Columbus Territory" in Alabama is Bruce Terminix Co., with headquarters at 1101 Spring Street, N. W., Atlanta, Georgia, phone VE 7746. Branch office facilities are maintained in Albany, Macon, and Columbus. Local representatives in other towns are listed in the yellow pages of your phone directory.

Call or write Bruce Terminix for an inspection now.

FLEXCELL EXPANSION JOINT FILLER

Where concrete meets concrete

Efficient . . . non-extruding . . . resilient! Those are the qualities that have made Flexcell Expansion Joint the choice of engineers and construction men on every type of concrete job from highways, airport runways, bridges, and viaducts to houses.

The Celotex Cane Fibreboard from which Flexcell is made is impregnated with a selected asphalt. It will not bulge or make an unsightly, annoying bump. It WILL permit proper and uniform compression, returning to its original thickness as compression lessens. Ask about this smooth efficient expansion joint.

stall and replace new, first-quality glass in your car now.

Long recognized as a leader in the field of automotive parts service in the Southeast, the Crane Auto Parts Co. announces that their glass installation department is equipped to give fast service at all times. Under the supervision of Floyd Robinson, a veteran of many years in this type of work, Crane's glass department installs glass from $2 and up.

Glass installation for any make or model car or truck is featured by Crane Auto Parts Co. A file of glass patterns for all vehicles is maintained in the department, so that glass is cut and installed to factory specifications.

In addition to glass installation, the Crane firm offers expert radiator repairs, under the supervision of Charles L. Leake. Mr. Leake recently returned to the Crane organization after an absence of nearly ten years when he was in business for himself.

Repairs on all makes of radiators for both passenger cars and trucks are featured by Mr. Leake's department. Your radiator is "boiled out" and recored with new materials. Or—Mr. Leake invites you to exchange your old radiator for a guaranteed one in stock. There are hundreds to select from—all makes and models.

Since 1925, Crane Auto Parts Company has been a recognized leader in the used automotive parts field. They always have adhered to the policy of giving every customer—no matter how large or how small the order—"personalized" attention. Modern teletype service connects the Crane branches in Atlanta, Marietta, Albany, Columbus and LaGrange, assuring fastest possible service for customers.

Modern Color Combinations Now Available

"Ray-O-Lite" Awnings — the beautiful translucent fiber glass awnings that give protection to your home while adding distinction and attractiveness unmatched by other awning materials—will establish new records in popularity this spring and summer, according to officials of Ray-O-Lite Southeast, Inc., manufacturers and distributors.

An announcement today from Ray-O-Lite, whose offices and manufacturing plant are located at 696 Greenwood Ave., N.E., calls attention to the increased demand by home and property owners for these smart, modern translucent fiber glass awnings. Their unique "beauty-plus-protection" factor makes Ray-O-Lite the top choice in home or commercial modernization plans.

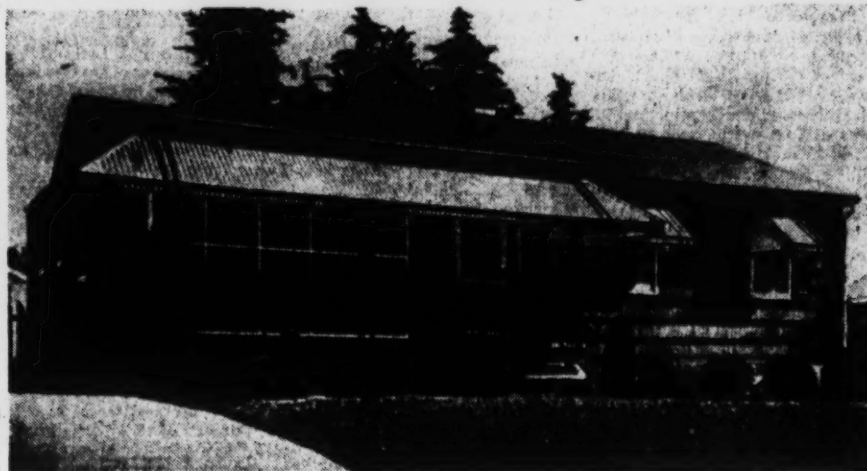

These remarkable awnings of lifetime fiber glass deflect harmful sun rays and keep interiors cool and comfortable. They let in just enough light... soft and diffused... to bring out the natural beauty of rugs, drapes and furniture. Fiber glass, impregnated with polyester resin, material used in the manufacture of Ray-O-Lite awnings was thoroughly tested during World War II... in countless applications all over the world... in the air... on the seas. This durable, practical material won't crack, rust, peel, split, tear, buckle or warp. It is impervious to salt water, rot, mildew or any of the common acids or alkalis.

Now—these same sturdy resistance characteristics have been improved, refined and incorporated into beautiful Ray-O-Lite awnings for both residential and commercial installations.

Incidentally, your Ray-O-Lite awnings are "on duty" every day in the year. Let them stay up all year 'round... weather extremes can't hurt them... Remember—the freshness, sparkle and translucent attractiveness of Ray-O-Lite awnings will last a lifetime!

Ray-O-Lite awnings are now available in nine beautiful pastel colors, plus cocoa and black, all created to achieve architectural harmony in excellent decorative taste... at once adding to the comfort and value of your property.

For free literature and the name of your nearest Ray-O-Lite Awning installation firm, call EM. 6451, or write Ray-O-Lite Southeast, Inc., 696 Greenwood Ave., N.E., Atlanta. No obligation, of course.

"THE ROYALTY OF AWNINGS"—Beautiful, translucent Ray-o-Lite Awnings give you shade without dark shadows, and are as decorative viewed from the inside as from the outside. They give you a "housetime" of dependable, trouble-free service. See story.

How To Feel Proud When Company Comes

Give Furniture That New Look—Reupholster!

Whenever guests drop in, the lady of the house looks around instinctively to see that everything is in order—but when you look around your living room, do you see tired, shabby, old living room furniture?

If your living room furniture isn't all you'd like it to be, give yourself a real treat this spring. Have those old pieces reupholstered—it's actually better than buying brand new—and it costs so many, many dollars less and looks so wonderful!

Southern Upholsterers, famous for years in Atlanta, have reupholstered old living room furniture for over 25,000 Atlanta women—a proud record, and there's good reason for pride.

Southern's famous quality workmanship is so flawless that every reupholstering job is covered by a notarized guarantee. This firm's claim of "better than new" reupholstering has been proved time and time again through years of service to Atlanta housewives.

The fabric selection brought to your home by your Southern Upholsterers representative is breathtaking... over 200 sample fabrics from which to choose... ranging from elegant brocades to formal velvets to the most modern textured weaves.

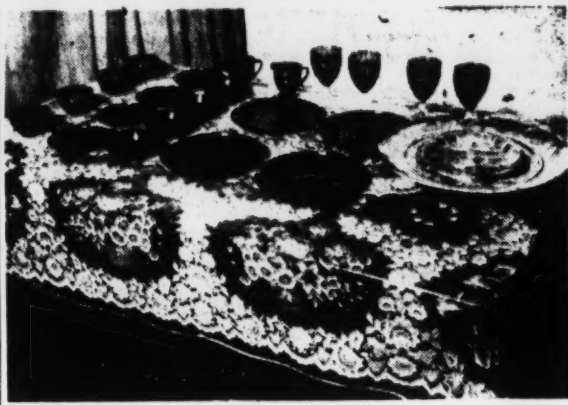

If you find the tremendous variety of patterns, colors, and fabrics a little head-spinning, the Southern representative is ready with free expert decorator advice as to the best choice for your furniture.

The reupholstering process, once your old furniture is in Southern Upholsterers' big modern plant, includes all these important steps: your furniture is stripped down to the frame and the wood parts are repaired and strengthened. The springs are reset and retied, and reinforced with steel bands. The old stuffing is replaced with new padding and moss for years of sitting comfort. The woodwork is refinished.

Finally, the lovely new covering is custom fitted to your furniture by Southern's experts.

The price for all this is as low as $79.50 for a sofa and chair. No down payment is required, and the cost may be paid on convenient credit terms at Southern Upholsterers.

For a free decorator consultation in your home and a look at the dazzling array of over 200 fabrics, telephone ALpine 5639 (just dial A-L-L N-E-W) and make a date with a Southern representative.

FREE—This week only! Southern Upholsterers offers this lovely 24-piece luncheon set with each order to reupholster a sofa and chair. A complete service for four in gorgeous Royal Ruby Anchor Hocking glassware. Lazy Susan is made of hammered aluminum. Flowered tablecloth is 56"x72". Call ALpine 5639 to take advantage of this special offer. (See story.)

Mutual of Omaha Reports Increase in Georgia Checks

OMAHA, Nebr. — V. J. Skutt, president of Mutual of Omaha, world's largest exclusive health and accident company, today announced that the association in 1953, mailed to members in the state of Georgia benefit checks totaling $1,577,586.01, an increase of 6 per cent over the previous year.

Mr. Skutt said the association in 1953 paid out a total of $63,688,472.32 in benefits, bringing the total benefits paid out since the company was founded in 1909 to over a half-billion dollars.

Mutual of Omaha last year mailed in excess of 1,600 benefit checks each day, Mr. Skutt said. In 1953, Mutual of Omaha paid 15 per cent more in benefits, claim service and claim reserves to its policyholders than the average of 28 other leading health and accident companies.

"Service to Mutual of Omaha association members when sickness or accident strikes is our paramount concern," Mr. Skutt said. "For that reason, we maintain 325 service offices. These operate in each of the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Canal Zone, serving our several million members."

Total benefits paid Mutual of Omaha association members in Georgia now totals $11,568,547.62, Mr. Skutt reported.

A Rhyme a Day

"In many family arguments, the husband and father, feeling he is mentally superior, gives little consideration to the other side of the discussion. Often he can win his point by allowing other members of the family to have their say."—Domestic relations article quote.

Great teachers have tried to implant... this thought deep in the mind of man... "although you often think you can't... just try it and you'll find you can"... that's good advice and we should heed... those lessons they attempt to teach... but, sometimes, what we think we need... is very much beyond our reach.

We either need things or we think... we do, and that is much the same... which drives some people to the brink... of danger when they fix their aim... upon some dim and distant goal... and often are defeated by... some little thing they can't control... and never know the reason why.

The teacher, prophet, seer or sage... will have to offer better proof... that they are right before we wage... an argument beneath our roof... you just don't have a chance to win... with daughter, wife or maiden-aunt... and it is foolish to begin... for when you think you can, you can't.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUESTIONS

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠A4 ♠106 ♠K105 ♠AK86
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 club Pass 2 no trump Pass

What do you bid now?
A—A direct bid of six no trump is in order. You have 30 points, and partner has promised at least 13, which assures you of the necessary 33 to justify a slam effort.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠AQ10865 ♠K74 ♠2 ♠J109
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 heart Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Two spades. This hand is practically the equal of an opening bid and a jump is indicated. This jump is forcing for one round, after which North may pass if he chooses.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠2 ♠KQ532 ♠76 ♠A10975
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 heart Pass

What do you bid now?
A—A bid of four hearts is indicated. After a previous pass, a jump to three hearts would not be forcing and is therefore not acceptable as a response. An alternate call might be three clubs, a jump shift, which even after a previous pass is forcing. Such a call might lead to the de-

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUESTIONS

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠KJ752 ♠— ♠KQ52 ♠Q632
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 heart Double Redouble

What do you bid now?
A—You have sufficient values to insist upon a game contract when partner makes a takeout double. Your hand is above average in strength (11 points), and if partner's double happens to contain exactly the right values, even a slam might be within reach. The best way to announce the strength of your hand is by a bid that is forcing to game—namely, a cue bid of two hearts. This will announce control of the adverse suit that partner selects for trump. Such action is superior to a jump bid to two spades, for this type of jump, after you have previously passed, would not obligate partner to speak again.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠KJ752 ♠105 ♠A4 ♠AK62
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 heart Pass 1 spade Pass
2 hearts Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 diamonds Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Three hearts. Partner's bidding has indicated a holding of six hearts and four diamonds and very likely nothing in clubs to help you stop the jump shift. You have already shown a good hand and should return to the suit in which the partnership holds eight trumps.

Q. 6—As West you hold:
♠— ♠— ♠— ♠—
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass

What do you bid now?
A—I would not be inclined to play for less than game and would proceed forthwith to three no trump. This hand contains 20 points. Partner, who has responded with one no trump may be relied upon for at least six. The singleton heart should not be a deterrent, for it is an impressive singleton, and partner almost certainly has values in that suit. A raise to two no trump would be accepted, but no credit would be allowed for a rebid of two spades.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠AK752 ♠K ♠J872 ♠AKQ
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Double. The fact that you are short in partner's suit would not militate against the double. If partner has a highly unbalanced hand, it would not be a deterrent, for it is an impressive singleton, and partner almost certainly has values in that suit. A raise to two no trump would be accepted, but no credit would be allowed for a rebid of two spades.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠J5 ♠107 ♠Q932 ♠AJ1087
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 spade 2 diamonds Pass Pass
2 hearts 3 diamonds ?

What do you bid now?
A—Double. The fact that you are short in partner's suit would not militate against the double. If partner has a highly unbalanced hand, it would not be a deterrent, for it is an impressive singleton, and partner almost certainly has values in that suit. A raise to two no trump would be accepted, but no credit would be allowed for a rebid of two spades.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

New Penicillin

Requires Fewer Doses

The newer long-acting penicillin products have simplified the treatment of many diseases. Ear infections are the most recent to feel the effects of these powerful injections. In a recent report, cure was reported in more than 50 cases following a single "shot."

Since they were first introduced, the wonder drugs have been used in the treatment of ear infections. Symptoms subside so rapidly it seldom is necessary to puncture the drum to allow pus to escape.

Complications are so rare that mastoid involvement is almost unknown. Furthermore, the antibiotics bring the disease under control long before bacteria have a chance to destroy the more delicate parts concerned with hearing. It is impossible to estimate how many individuals have been spared from loss of hearing.

One of the first lessons physicians learned when using antibiotics was to continue the drug long enough to subdue all microorganisms. Ear infection, for example, required a daily "shot" of ordinary penicillin for five to 10 days. When fewer injections were given, there was always a possibility that the disease would return.

Scientists have found ways and means, during the past few years, of prolonging the absorption of the wonder drug and a single dose, containing enough penicillin to last 15 days, can be given. This is the type recently used by Dr. Stuart H. Walker, Fort Meade army hospital, on more than 100 infants and children.

Of this group, 51 received a single "shot" of this remedy with amazing results.

Temperature became normal and throbbing pain in the ear subsided in almost every instance within 48 hours; in the majority, relief occurred within 24 hours. Bulging and redness of the eardrum disappeared within three to five days. There were no complications except for an occasional mild reaction to penicillin or a sore spot where the substance had been introduced.

In addition, penicillin also did away with sore throat or nose cold that tends to precede and cause ear infection. Mothers were advised to keep the youngsters in bed until fever abated and to give an aspirin tablet when needed for pain.

POOR APPETITES... What the McRory Family Does About Them

You must have a good appetite to get the most out of nourishing food that is placed before you... Good food, essential to HEALTH AND HAPPINESS. When your appetite is puny, then's the time for S.S.S. TONIC. Read what Mr. Wayne McRory of Madison, Florida says:

"Our three boys had bad appetites. We gave them S.S.S. TONIC every day for two weeks. Results were very satisfactory!"

Thousands of men, women and children take famous S.S.S. TONIC to perk up appetites and resist iron deficiency ANEMIA.

DOCTORS' TESTS PROVE S.S.S. HELPS YOU TWO VITAL WAYS:

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Premarital Affairs Are Poor Lessons

Mamie D., 37, has two high school daughters.

"Dr. Crane, I wish you'd answer the Kinsey report," she began our interview heatedly. "for it suggests that teen-age girls indulge in pre-marital affairs if they wish to insure their later marital happiness."

"Now I am a devout church member, but my ire isn't based just on moral scruples, for I think there are many sound arguments against this type of sophistry. What do you practical psychologists and marriage counselors think about premarital sexual experimenting?"

MORALITY IS "HORSE SENSE"
Before I reply to Mamie, let me ask if you believe that prostitutes make ideal wives? They may have had hundreds of "affairs." So the argument that promiscuity produces better marital adjustments is not true.

In fact, as a physician I have treated and quizzed many Chicago prostitutes. Yet most of them confessed they had never even once experienced the climax of sexual excitement.

And you readers with "horse sense" can easily see why. For example, if you play a dozen different pianos does that make you an accomplished pianist?

Certainly not! It takes only one piano to produce an expert pianist, if you practice diligently the correct technique. "Many pianos" won't insure you the proper musical technique, nor do many pre-marital affairs teach you how to adjust sexually in marriage, otherwise prostitutes and "call" girls should qualify as admirable marriage prospects.

BE A SMART WIFE

Notice what girls who indulge in illicit sexual affairs suffer. First, they lose their spunk or independent spirit, and that is a woman's chief charm to a male. The Bible recognizes this fact, for it says a woman is "humbled" when it refers to sexual relations.

Second, a girl never feels sure of herself thereafter for she cannot tell when her "humbler" will boast of his conquest of her virtue. So she is constantly under a sword of Damocles.

This tends to make her fearful and even shiftless-eyed.

The girl also runs the chance of serious diseases.

PREGNANCY DANGER

If she becomes pregnant, she tears her soul apart by worrying if an abortion will make her permanently sterile thereafter so she can never bear a baby if and when she is legally married.

And if she bears her baby out of wedlock, this is unfair to the infant and often starts him out in life with at least one strike against him. If she decided to give up the baby for adoption, this torments her in future years.

Meanwhile, she destroys the halo of mystery and expectancy that should attach to the wedding night.

So refrain from premarital affairs and you'll be happier. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of The Constitution, plus a dime and order the bulletin "Sex Problems in Marriage." It will teach you far more than a dozen premarital "affairs."

Record Reviews

Columbia Trio Presents Fine Romantic Disc

ROMANCE—Frank Parker and Marion Marlowe. Orchestra conducted by Percy Faith. Columbia.

In a follow-up to the popular "Sweethearts" album by the same cast, Columbia teams Parker, Marlowe and Faith in a fine 10-inch record of romantic songs.

R. STRAUSS—"Suite for Wind Group" and serenade in E-flat. Vienna Philharmonic Wind Group. Westminster.

It's delightful to find such enjoyable music by Strauss in this medium. Westminster has done an exceptional job in recording these scores.

MUSIC FROM HOLLYWOOD—Percy Faith and his orchestra. Columbia.

Faith, who along with Kostelanetz, Mantovani and Winterhalter have introduced a symphonic tone in popular music, brings the listener several outstanding movie scores in this record. "Ruby" is far the best.

RIMSKY-KORSAKOV—"The Golden Cockerel Suite" and "Capriccio Espagnol." Ernest Ansermet conducting L'Orchestra de la Suisse Romande. London.

Here's truly faithful reproduction of two outstanding scores. Ansermet's readings are artistic; the orchestra's response is excellent and the technical aspects of the recording leave nothing to be desired.

BEETHOVEN—Concerto No. 1 in C-major. Badura Skoda, piano. Herman Scherchen conducting the Vienna State Opera Orchestra. Westminster.

Skoda, a Viennese artist, is a skilled pianist. His performance of one of Beethoven's earlier works is outstanding. Technically the record is exceptional.

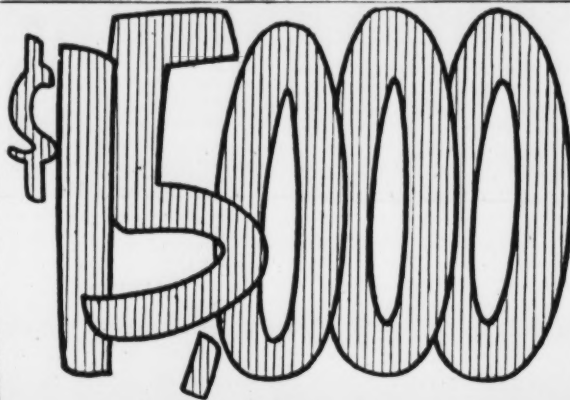

PROKOFIEFF—Symphony No. 7. The Philadelphia Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy; Lieutenant Kile Suite. Efram Kurtz conducting the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra. Columbia.

Maestro Ormandy, a perfectionist, achieves sensitive balance in the Seventh. It ranks among the top performances. Kurtz also is effective in the reading of the suite.

Spain Ready To Ask Big Boost in U.S. Aid

Official Flying to D.C. To Push Plea for '55

By CAMILLE M. CIANFARRA

MADRID, March 28—The Spanish government indicated today that it will press Washington for a much larger amount of U.S. economic aid in 1955 than that said to be under consideration by the Foreign Operations Administration.

For several months officials here have repeatedly stated that Spain is to contribute efficiently to the defense of the West, and that the United States economic and military aid for the next fiscal year must be in the same basis as nations that have, ceased.

Official Spanish dissatisfaction over that aspect of U.S.-Spanish relations was understood to have deepened recently as what were termed well-founded reports reached here that the FOA was planning to ask Congress for about $50,000,000 in defense support to Spain in 1955, and in any case, for a great deal less than the $85,000,000 granted in 1954.

TO FLY TO U.S.

Manuel Arburua, minister of commerce and head of the Spanish Interministerial Committee for Economic Cooperation, will fly to the United States on April 3. Spanish sources said he probably will ask for economic aid of about $170,000,000 in 1955.

So far, in addition to $85,000,000 for economic aid, Spain is to receive $141,000,000 in defense equipment by June 30 to implement the bilateral agreement signed last September. The agreement entitles the United States to build and use a number of air and naval bases in Spain.

Pueblo, a Falange newspaper, in an editorial that apparently reflects the government's attitude, said that "the economic aid foreseen under the agreement with the United States is insufficient."

"MERELY EQUALITY"

"We do not demand privileged treatment—merely equality with other nations pledged to the development of the free world," it added, noting that Spain had not benefited by Marshall Plan aid and therefore that the United States could not deal with her on the same basis as nations that have, ceased.

Wiley Warns U.N. Courts Doom If It Seats Peiping

Opposes Swap for Indochina Peace; Stresses Defiant Stand of Public

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Sen. Alexander Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, warned the United Nations today it will risk self-destruction if it admits Red China to membership over United States opposition.

The administration's chief foreign policy spokesman in the Senate said several governments have expressed the hope an arrangement can be made to pave the way for admission of Red China to the U.N. in exchange for peace in Indochina and other trouble spots.

Such a proposal is likely to be made at the international conference on the Far East, beginning April 26 in Geneva, Switzerland, he said.

"I, for one, strongly oppose any such spurious and self-defeating arrangement," the Wisconsin Republican said at a Masonic dedication service and breakfast.

Wiley said the House, the Senate service and breakfast, chief U.S. delegate to the U.N. and the American people all stand firmly against Chinese Communist membership in the word organization.

"The United Nations cannot endure without the support of public opinion in the United States," he said. "That is a simple statement of fact. Let no one who holds the U.N. dear lose sight of that fact."

Wiley said he opposed admission of Red China into the U.N. for the following reasons:

1. It is impossible to buy peace and security by appeasing an aggressor economically, militarily or politically. Such appeasement brings on a new war worse than the one before and at the most disadvantageous terms.

2. Red China should not be allowed to shoot her way into the U.N. or recognition by Washington because the United States should not turn her back on proven allies such as Nationalist China or South Korea.

3. The highest military echelons of the U. S. government have determined the maintenance of a free Formosa, the seat of the Chinese Nationalist government, is essential to the security of this nation and of the entire Pacific.

Other declarations were against colonialism in this hemisphere, for furtherance of human rights and fundamental freedoms and closer economic ties, but the final speaker declared little had been done here to solve the economic problems of the Americans.

Audrey Adds a Tony For Role in 'Ondine'

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Anyone with a still un-awarded prize for the best female acting need not bother to count the votes. Just package the bauble and send it to Audrey Hepburn, 46th Street Theater, New York City.

The Dutch-English actress, a headliner less than three years, tonight knocked off the Broadway stage acting award three days after receiving Hollywood's Oscar.

Miss Hepburn was one of 22 persons honored tonight at the eighth annual Antoinette Perry Awards Dinner at the Plaza Hotel for work done in the 12 months ended March 1, 1954.

"The Teahouse of the August Moon" and "Kismet" were designated the outstanding dramatic play and musical play; David Wayne of "Teahouse" was the male star who received the Tony medalion.

Miss Hepburn got her Tony for her work in the Giraudoux drama, "Ondine," her second Broadway play. Her Oscar last Thursday was for the movie "Roman Holiday."

Faye Emerson presided at the Tony ceremonies tonight before a sparkling audience of about 1,000, including most of the big names in show business.

DESIGNATIONS

For some reason no one ever has been able to explain satisfactorily, the American Theater Wing's board which decides the winners shies from such designations as "best" or "first" and uses "distinguished" and "outstanding." The idea's the same.

John Patrick, author of "Teahouse," received a Tony, and its producers, Maurice Evans and George Shaefer received scrolls.

Charles Lederer and Luther Davis received medalions for the libretto of "Kismet," and Robert Wright and George Forrest received Tonys for their musical arrangements. Lederer also got a scroll as the show's producer.

FORGOT TO CLIP SAFETY BELT

Throwing Pilot in Loop, Plane Dives Past Chute

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 28 (INS)—Edgar R. Broome's thoughts were in the clouds this afternoon as he put his private plane into a loop—pretty soon he too was in the clouds. He forgot to fasten his safety belt.

What did Broome do? He pulled his parachute rip cord just like anyone would at 3,500 feet and floated to the ground. His plane came down a little faster—but both landed in a corn field four miles south of Maryville.

Broome, 22, of Redlands, Calif., with magnificent calm, told onlookers who raced to where he landed, "I must have forgotten to fasten my safety belt."

The absent-minded birdman is an airman first class stationed at McGee-Tyson Air Force Base outside of Knoxville.

Strangely enough he wasn't worried too much about what happened to him, but seemed concerned over the reaction of "nine other guys" back at the air base.

See, the plane, a World War II surplus fighter, was owned by a

Siamese Twins, Normal Baby

Born to Mom, 29

MONTREAL, Que., March 28—(AP)—Siamese twin girls, joined at the head, and a normal girl were born last night to a 29-year-old mother, Catherine Booth Hospital announced today.

Officials reported that the triplets were doing well in incubators. They said the mother, Mrs. J. Savage, also was in good health.

The normal, five-pound girl was born first at 10 p.m. yesterday. Then Mrs. Savage gave birth to the twins.

The babies were a month premature. They were the fourth, fifth and sixth children of Mrs. Savage and her 30-year-old husband, who works at a downtown department store.

Hubby Strangles Wife With Clothes Line For Trying to Rectify Bungled Paint Job

BEAVER, Pa., March 28 (AP)—Eugene Powers, 32, of nearby New Brighton, surrendered to police today after strangling his wife when she tried to help him with a paint job he was bungling.

Powers told New Brighton police he had been painting an upstairs bedroom late last night and doing a poor job of it when his wife, Marie, 30, tried to take over.

"I got real mad and started to hit her," Powers said.

Police said Powers, a millworker, dragged his wife downstairs to the kitchen where he strangled her with a clothes line. He called his mother and father-in-law to inform them of the slaying, then telephoned police and told them to pick him up.

The couple's two children, Carol Jean, 5, and Dennis, 2, were asleep in another bedroom while the struggle took place.

VA Office Move Costly To 660 Workers Here

By JIMMY WALKER

The proposed merger of the Atlanta and Philadelphia Veterans Administration district offices, a move to cut government costs, will cost the 660 employees here their budgets, their homes or their jobs.

Stated to begin April 1, the transfer will combine death claims and insurance work in the southeast with the Philadelphia district.

The move appears certain since a legislative bill by Rep. James C. Davis to keep the Atlanta office was tabled by a Congressional subcommittee.

NO BITTERNESS

There's no bitterness among the people hurt most, members of the Atlanta staff. There is only tight-lipped acceptance.

Few, if any of the employees, from supervisor to secretary, want to go. Most have decided to stay in Atlanta, keep their homes and take a chance on a job with another government agency, a private insurance company or industry.

They're not sure that the Philadelphia jump would be the last—that in a year or two another "shakedown" wouldn't leave them on the streets of a strange city.

On the other hand, the career workers, 45 and older, know if they don't move they will likely lose the retirement benefits they've built up. Government jobs here are scarce to the point of being nonexistent. They also realize the

Caracas Parley Closes With Solidarity Pact

Nixon May Visit Italy, Bolster Luce

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower is considering sending Vice President Nixon to Italy—at the urgent request of Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce—for a brief goodwill tour to combat Communist propaganda.

Associates said the President has not yet made up his mind if or when he can spare Nixon from his Washington duties for a flying visit to a country where conditions are being viewed with increased concern here.

Mrs. Luce recently has come under attack of 35 extreme left wing Italian senators, who asked the Rome government to label her unwelcome and thus force her withdrawal from the country. No one expects this to happen.

A Lax-Voting Puerto Rican Loses Ballot, Visitor Says

By JIM PINSON

The Puerto Rican voter must show up at the polls every four years or forfeit the right to cast his ballot for the next eight, a young official of the country explained here.

John F. Boulton, farm marketing expert who represented Puerto Rico's agriculture commissioner at a meeting in Atlanta, said his government has been outdoing itself in recent years to make its citizens vote-conscious.

His remarks were made as he defended his people against criticism resulting from the recent Washington incident involving fanatic Puerto Rican nationalists.

"Until a few years ago," he explained, "the political situation was a confused mess in my Puerto Rico. Frequent elections were held for offices of all levels and things were so corrupt it was not unusual for a person to cast five or six votes for one candidate."

But these practices are a thing of the past under new laws, strictly enforced, he says.

Boulton, who was born in Puerto Rico and has lived there most of his life, said the present system requires all elections to be held at the same time every four years. Officials are elected at the same time as the U.S. president.

Unless the eligible voter exercises his right to vote, or presents an iron-clad excuse, his franchise is revoked for eight years.

Boulton insisted that an overwhelming majority of Puerto Ricans are opposed violently to "the lunatic nationalists."

"We are not oppressed," he said. "We have the same basic services that you have on the mainland—post offices, government farm agencies and our dip-

THE TWO BEMS
One Climbs Trees

AP's Price Loses Urge To Trace Ancestry; Finds Monkey Bem in Shade of Family Tree

Editor's Note—Associated Press Reporter Ben Price (formerly an AP staff member in Atlanta) has traveled far and wide in his 37 years, including a tour of duty in the Pacific for the Marines during and immediately after World War II, but he never ran across anybody named Bem. Not that is, until he met a monkey right here in Washington. He was so startled he sat right down and wrote a piece about it.

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The family tree is undergoing a thoughtful revision.

I had always looked upon it as a fairly impressive tree until today, when I met a member of the douroucouli family from Colombia. His name is Bem, too.

Around our house the family tree has always been a sacred sort of thing. It listed three by the name of "Bem" and carried on back through the Revolutionary War to an English merchant family.

I had always wondered rather mildly why nobody had ever bothered to delve a little deeper into our ancestry.

After I met the Colombian Bem today I decided my forebears knew when to leave well enough alone. I would advise you to do the same.

The Bem I met today was not only in the tree, he was hanging from it.

Bem normally lives with the Ivan Sandersons in New York City and I must say he has quite a line of chatter. I couldn't understand a word but then you must remember he is from Colombia.

ADDITION TO WOMEN Sanderson, who knows Bem as well as any man, said he is a creature of nocturnal habits with an addiction to women and night clubs. He much prefers the dimly lit place with soft violin music. In such a setting, he has been known to fondle a lovely feminine shoulder and nuzzle unashamedly.

Any comparisons between this Bem and that Bem are purely coincidental. I might add, too, that the Colombian Bem is rather pint-sized.

HE'S WELL-TO-DO

It was something of a blow to learn that this member of the Colombian branch is quite well-to-do. He has appeared on 228 television shows. When it comes to earning money in big bucks, he makes a monkey out of me.

I had always wondered how I happened to be named Bem. Of course I knew it was a name my mother had given me, but where'd she get such a name?

She always explained somewhat cavalierly that I was named for a great uncle and that he in turn was named for the Polish patriot, Joseph Bem.

Now I know better. Sanderson said the name was derived from the old science fiction term "bug-eyed-monster," shortened, of course, to Bem.
